belleville township high school

NO. 10-11-12

Persistence finds the key we are seeking;

Courage turns the lock.

A burst of sunlight through opened doors shows us our path to Freedom, Knowledge, Truth, and Love — to glorious Wisdom.

Through These Doors . . .

BELLEVILLE TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL

PUBLISHED BY THE BELLEVINOIS STAFF

BELLEVINOIS

Democracy is a dynamic way of life in which we may constantly exercise ourselves as individuals. We are not forced to conform, but have the liberty and the responsibility to think what we choose, to do what we choose, to be what we choose. Because of the freedoms inherent in democracy, we can pick our own friends, work and study as we will, choose our loyalties, and state and defend our beliefs.

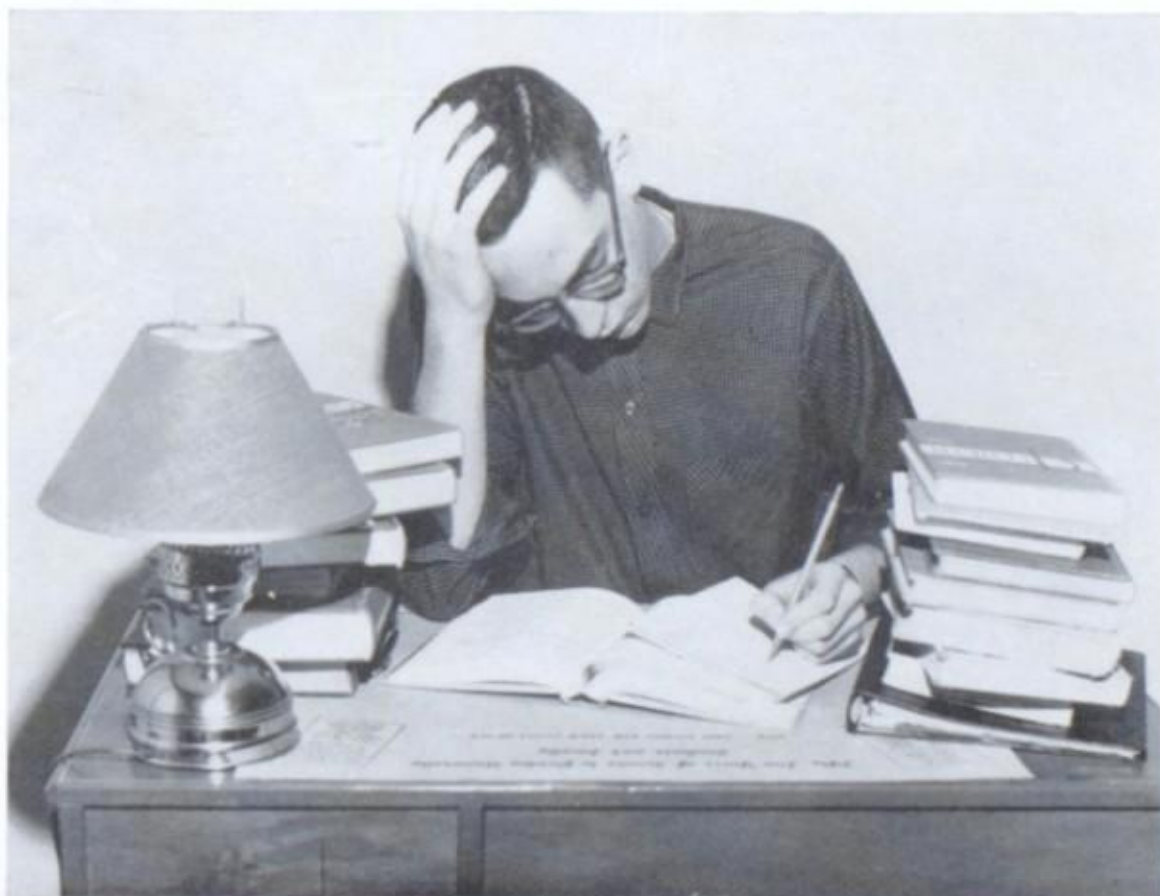

The doors through which we pass in a lifetime are milestones to our right of freedom of choice. Each door represents a decision in our lives; we open or leave it as we choose. Thus, to the living spirit of Democracy, which embodies all the freedoms and ideals of our individual lives, the BELLEVINOIS Staff of 1961 dedicates its efforts.

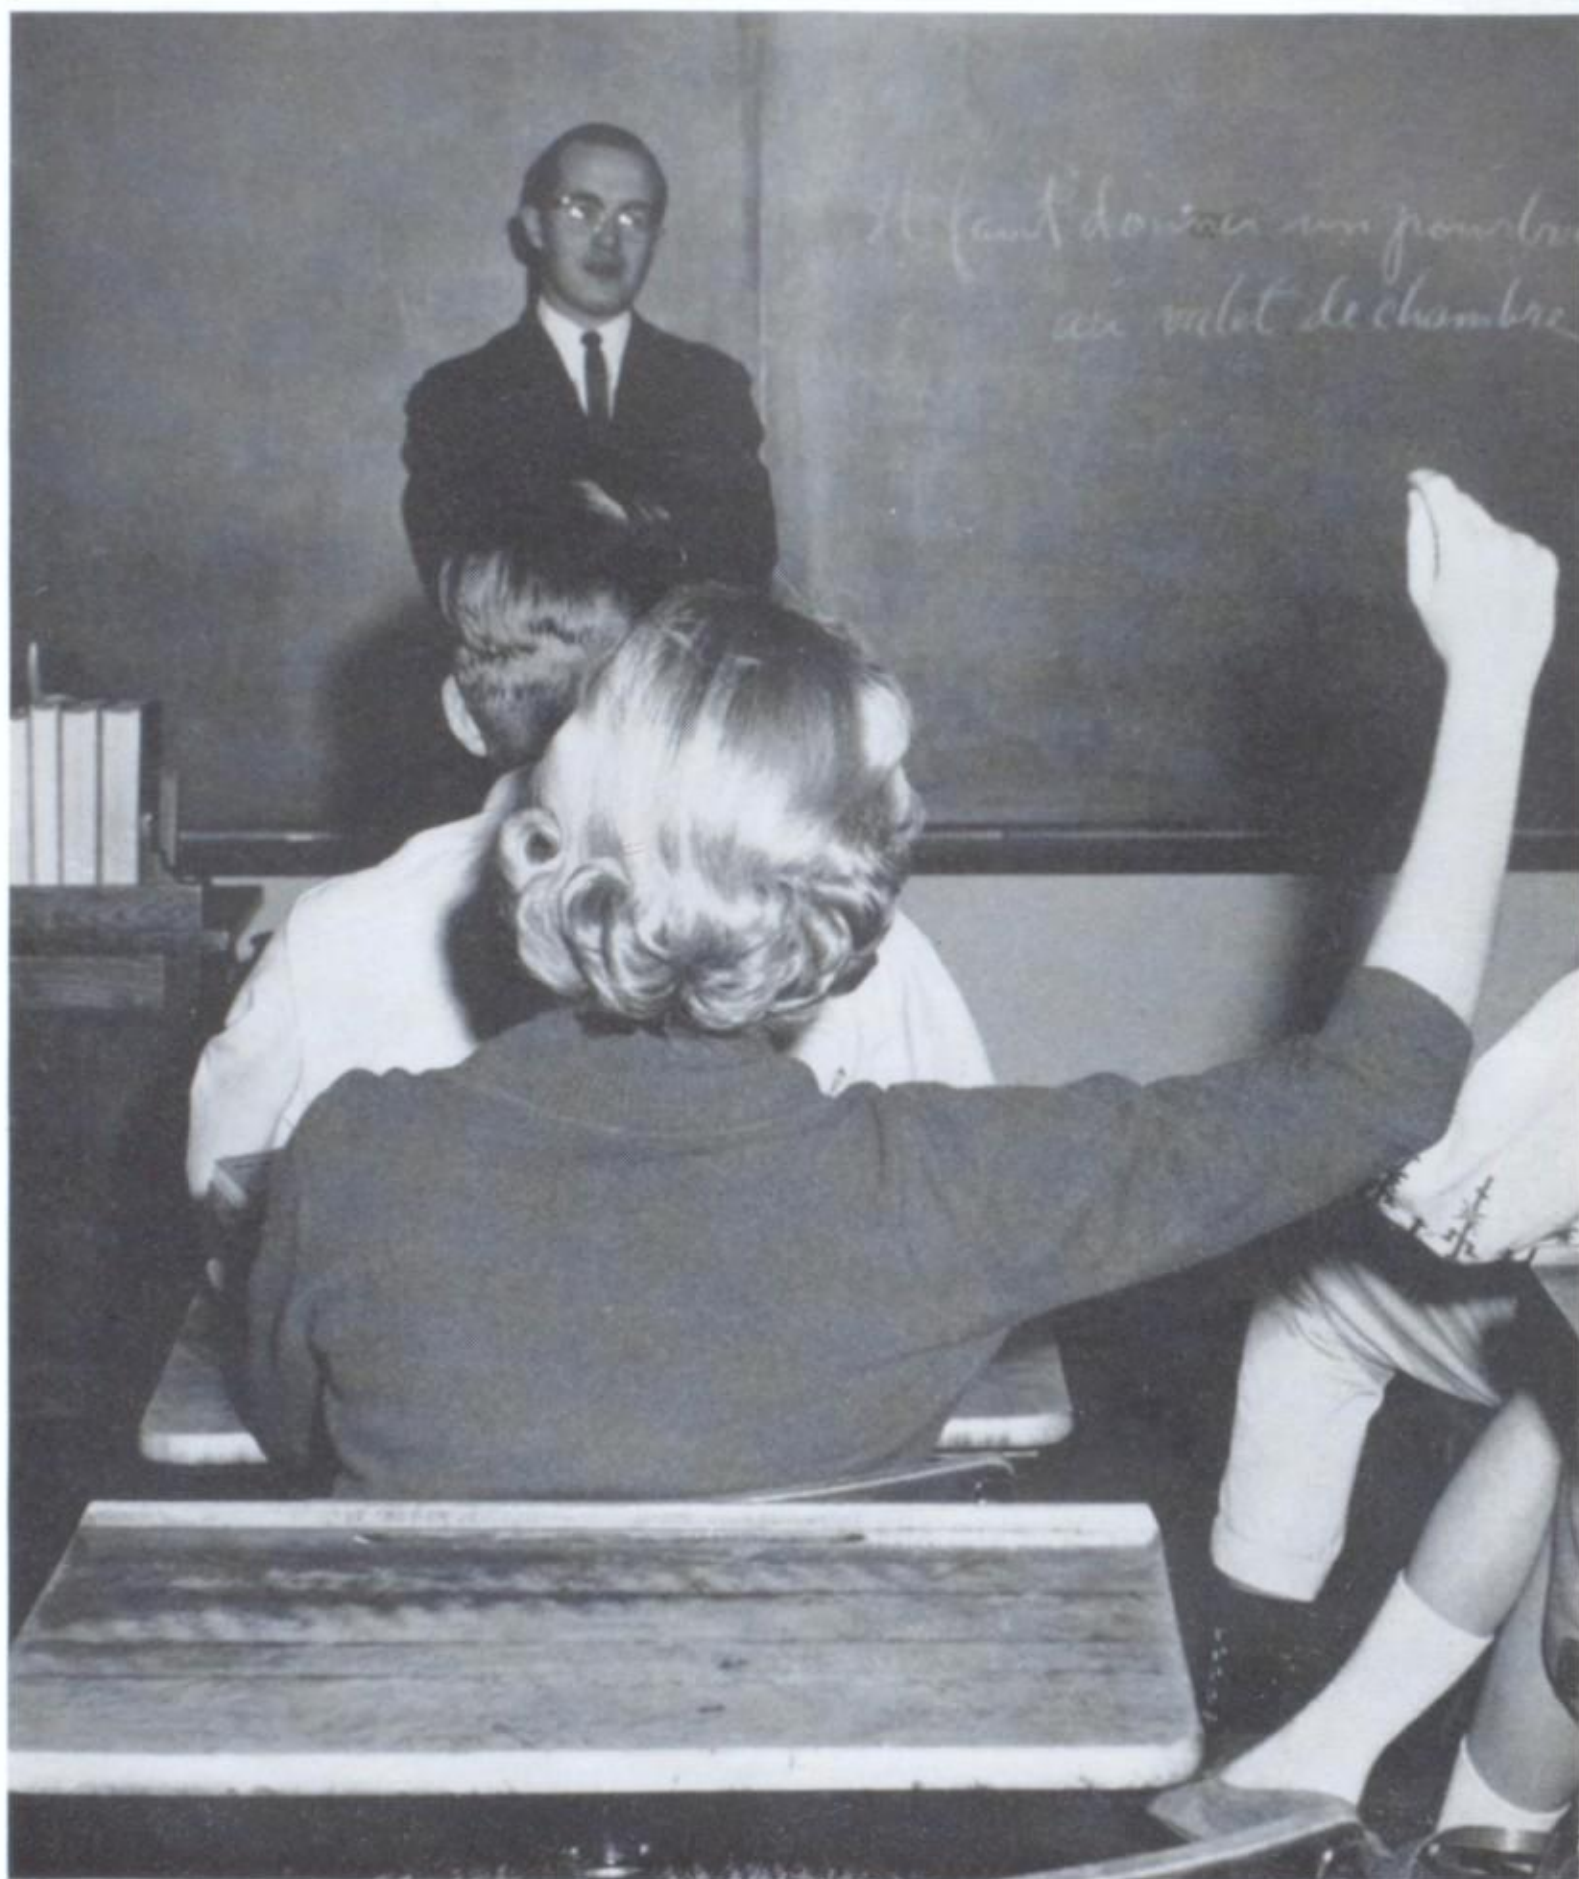

The Faculty shows the doors to knowledge, but it is for us, the Students, to open them.

Through Studies we open doors to new ideas, and Activities give us doors to experience.

Our Patrons give examples of service and quality.

A black and white photograph of a wooden door. The door is made of wood with a prominent grain and features a six-panel design. A dark rectangular sign with the word 'FACULTY' in white capital letters is mounted in the center. Above the sign, the number '100' is visible. On the left side, there is a dark, curved handle and a small square lock. The door is set in a frame, and the surrounding wall has a brick-like pattern. The image has a slightly grainy, vintage quality.

Top Seniors Earn Honors

"To create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to develop character" — these are the goals of the National Honor Society.

This year forty-seven seniors were honored with membership. The names of the candidates were submitted to the entire faculty for approval.

Qualifications for membership include a scholastic average of 3.5 up to a possible 4.0, attendance at BTHS for a year prior to selection, and a record of service to the school and the community.

Names of seniors honored this year were sent to Washington, D.C., where they will be enrolled in the national records of the Honor Society. At commencement these seniors received a Honor Society seal on their diplomas.

Since 1948, when BTHS was granted the National Honor Society charter, three hundred and eighty-eight local students have earned the honor of qualifying for membership in this society which stands for excellence.

ACADEMIC

Reading and composition are basic skills.

Miss Elliott explains a point of diagraming to Jim Frieberg.

In English courses we are taught the construction of our language. From Chaucer to Shakespeare to Hemingway, we are introduced to all types of literature. As freshmen we read short stories and Great Expectations. In our sophomore year we meet Silas Marner and Julius Caesar. When we become juniors we study American writing, such as the poems and short stories of Edgar Allen Poe and Thornton Wilder's play, Our Town. In our fourth year we discuss Macbeth.

We learn not only to express ourselves in writing but also in the oral word, through reports, classroom discussion, and formal speeches. Before we can organize our ideas in writing and speaking we have to learn how to use the parts of speech and sentence construction of English.

The study of language promotes better understanding.

This year the field of language has been greatly expanded at BTHS. Latin, Spanish, German, and French are now offered as four-year courses.

Instructors follow the latest methods by using the record player and tape recorder as aids to instruction. The record player develops an interest in the language and the tape recorder gives each student the opportunity to learn the various sounds of the language and their correct pronunciation. By reading stories, writing to pen pals, and dramatizing short skits in class about the customs of a language group, students receive knowledge of the geography, ideals, and ways of living of the people who speak the language.

Language is emphasized today because of the need for understanding between peoples.

Richard DeVies improves his speaking ability by using the tape recorder.

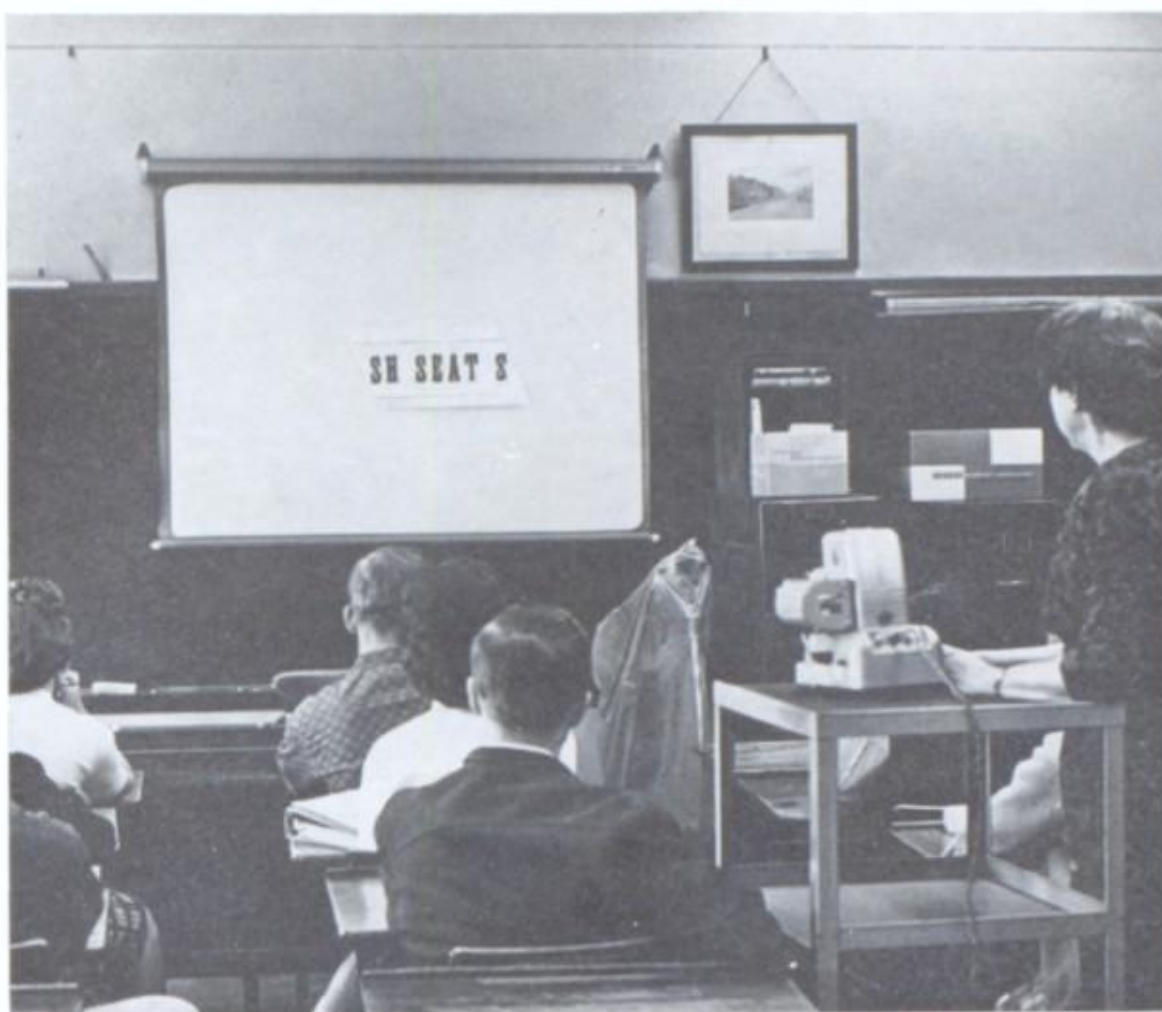

Learning to read is essential.

Two courses offered on campus to help students improve their reading skills are remedial reading and reading improvement. Remedial reading is designed for those who fall below their expectancy in reading. Reading improvement stresses speed and comprehension, important skills for those who wish to continue schooling beyond the high school level.

Individual instruction is given to meet the needs and interests of each student. Stress is placed on vocabulary, speed, and comprehension.

A wide variety of reading materials is available to students in the reading clinic. Mechanical devices, such as the tachistoscope-flashmeter, the controlled reader, and the reading pacer are used to increase speed and comprehension.

With the use of the controlled reader students increase speed in reading.

The library stimulates learning.

An average of two hundred students make daily use of the library.

Under the direction of Miss Glass and her assistants, the BTHS library is one of the most efficiently-operated high school libraries in this area.

Students check out approximately 60,000 books annually. This year 1500 new books were added to the library, giving students an even wider choice in reading material.

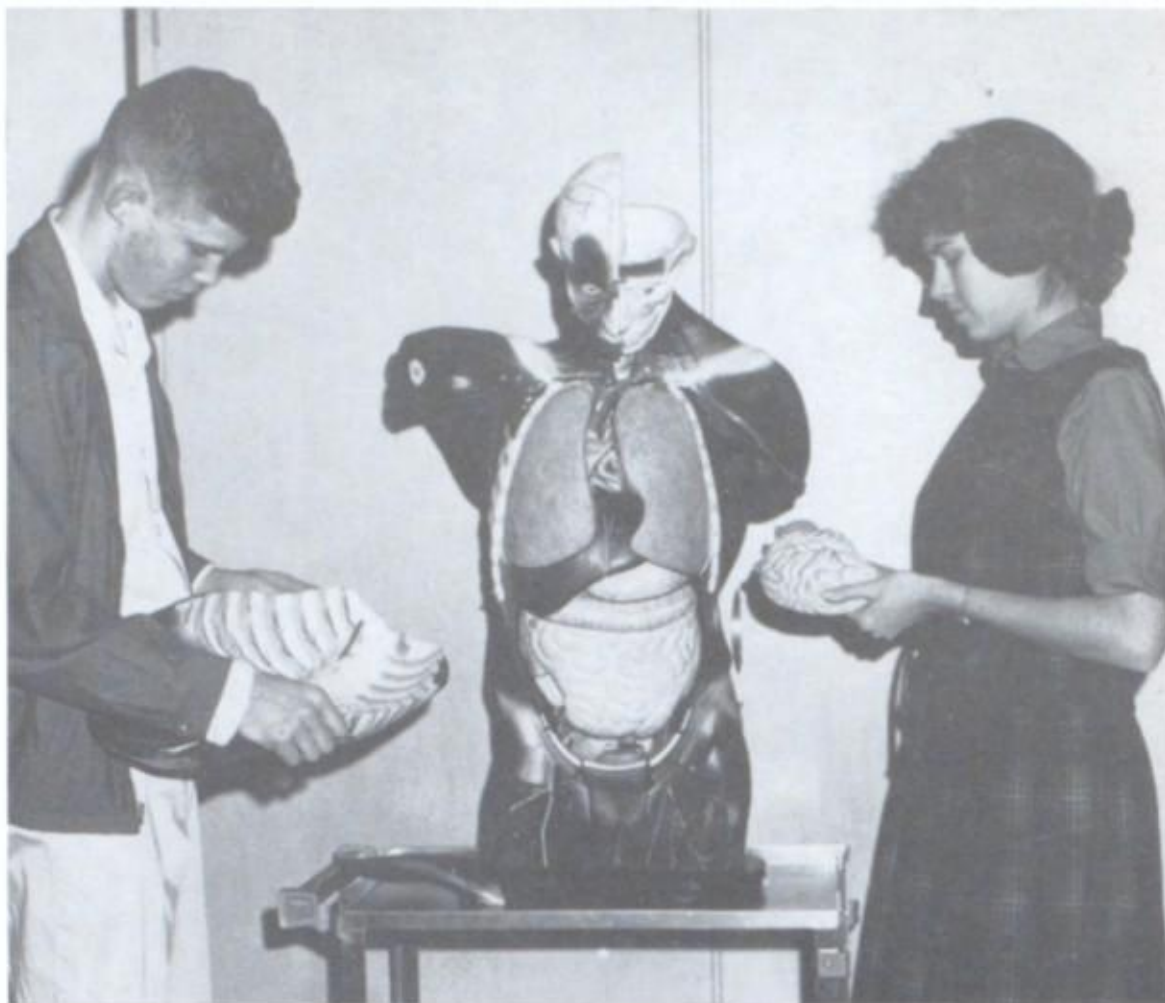

The modern library gives students the opportunity for complete and thorough research. The reference books, fiction, and 58 periodicals provide the necessary matter for students who make daily use of the library for reference work, class assignments and recreational reading. Many students use the conference room of the library for their probing into detailed material.

Biology helps us to appreciate nature.

The study of natural sciences through the process of investigation helps to acquaint students with natural occurrences. At BTHS students are offered courses in health, general science, and biology in the natural science curriculum.

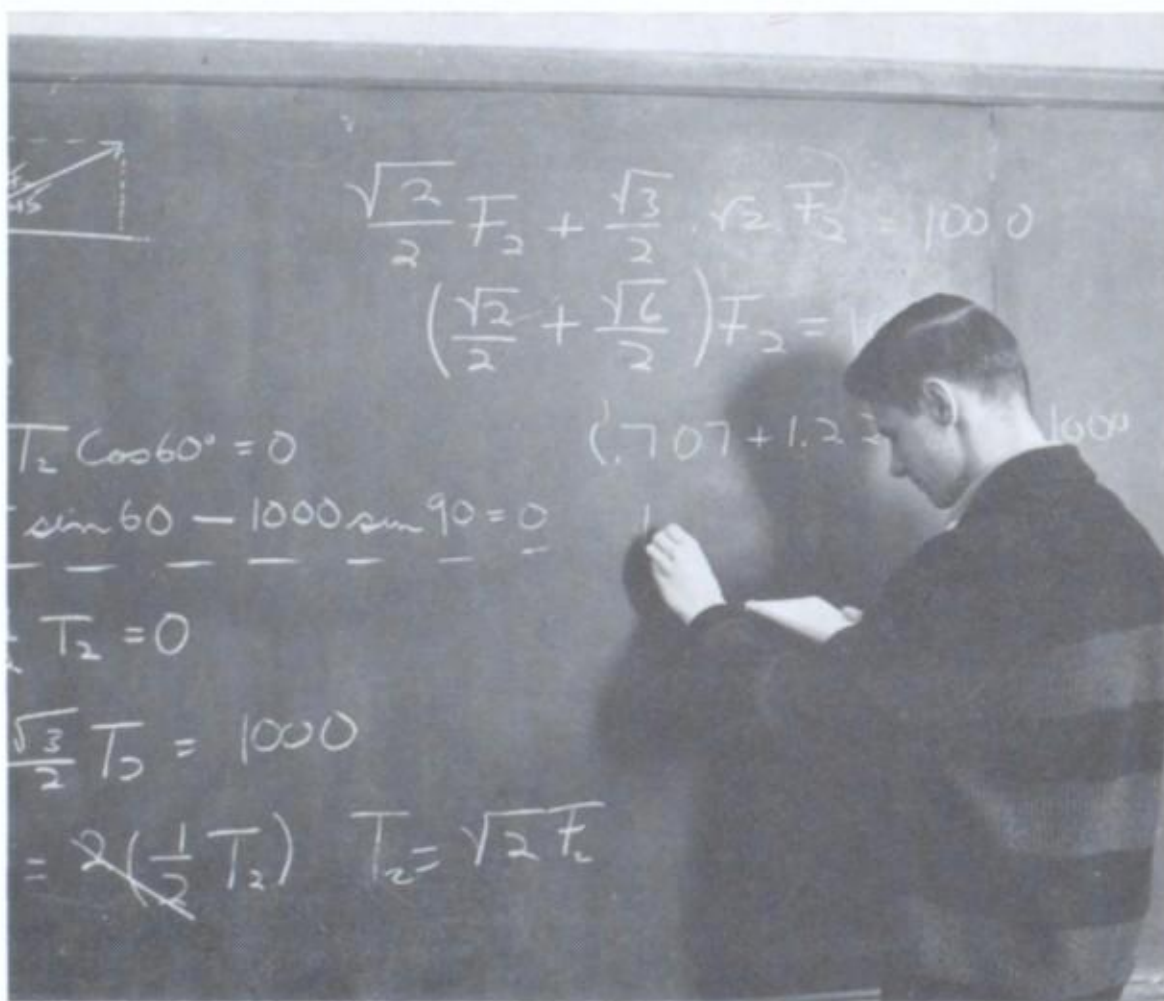

All freshman are required to take health education for a period of ten weeks. In general science, freshman learn the simple principles of life processes. With the aid of powerful microscopes, a human torso, a skeleton, and other materials, biology students study the construction of plants and animals.

Students of biology put their knowledge to work during laboratory periods. From the notes students are required to keep of their observations they are able to trace the cycles of nature.

Jim Clemens and Sarah Beekman examine models in a biology laboratory.

Math teaches us to think clearly.

Ed. Brandhurst ponders a problem in algebra class.

The courses offered in the field of math include algebra, plane and solid geometry, trigonometry, college algebra, analytic geometry and calculus.

Algebra classes study the properties and relations of quantities, which included the use of letters and various symbols not previously employed in the working of problems. Students in plane and solid geometry become acquainted with the two and three dimensional concepts developed by Euclid and Pythagoras.

Trigonometry, college algebra, analytic geometry, and calculus are offered for college credit under the high school program.

History opens the door to our heritage.

Priscilla Patterson points out one of the major battles of the Civil War to an American history class.

The field of social studies offers a variety of courses. Anyone interested in gaining fundamentals in the humanities may choose courses in American and world history, international relations, sociology, economics, geography, and civics.

These courses allow the student to learn and discuss freely knowledge concerning the history of nations, man and his relation to society, and the effect of location, geographic conditions, and culture upon the people of the world.

Historical factors are analyzed and related to present international relations and conditions of societies. In this way the student obtains an understanding of himself and of others in his community and in his world.

The study of government develops citizenship.

In order to be a good citizen a person must understand his role in government and how he can govern himself. It is with this concept that classes in government are concerned.

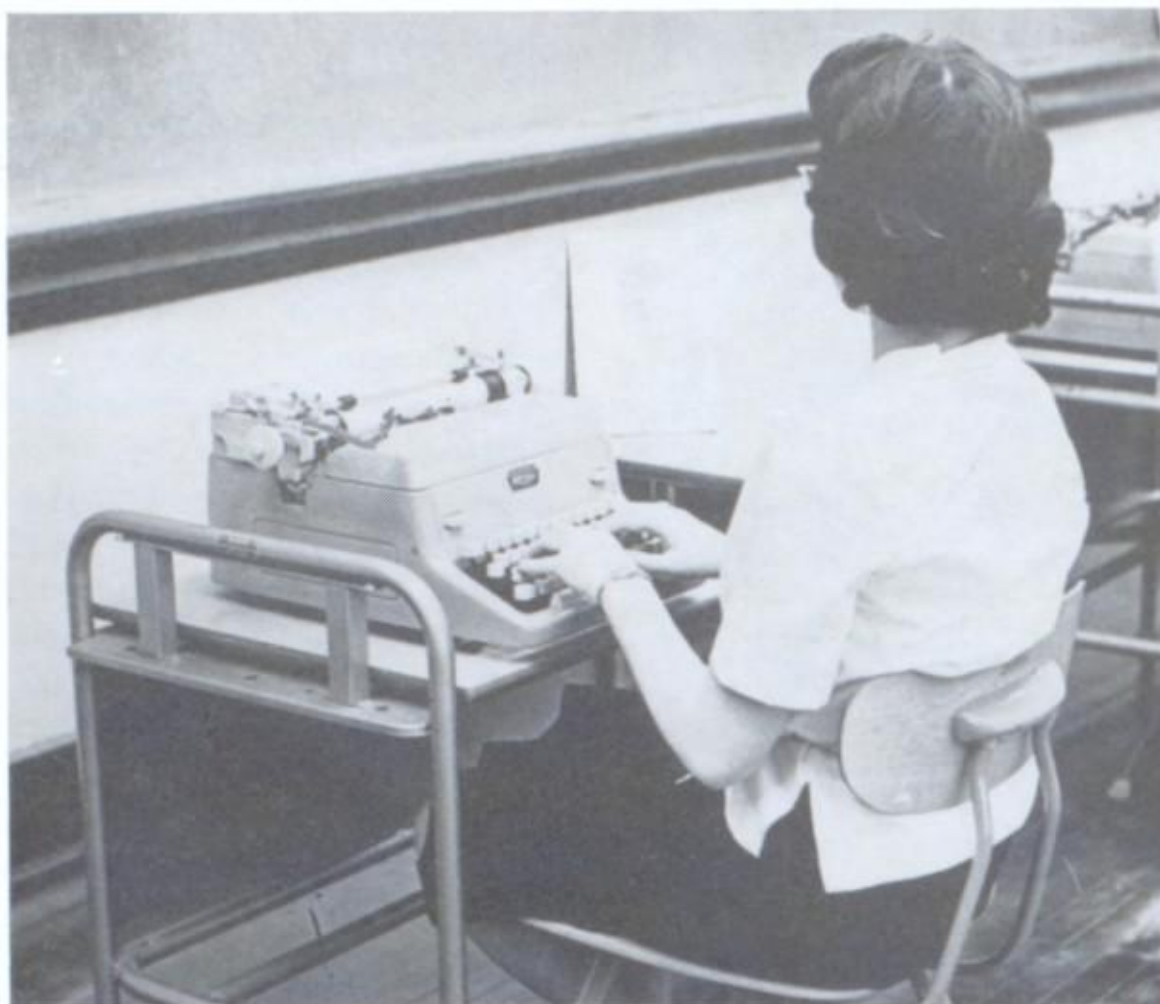

Local, state, and federal government and the functions of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches are examined and discussed. Classes thoroughly study the Constitution, the court system, and the operation of Illinois government and its relation to the federal system.

Students visit local county court sessions and city council meetings to observe government in action. Interest is awakened so that young citizens will grow into active roles in local, state, and federal politics.

A panel of students conducts a discussion of foreign policy in an American government class.

Typing and shorthand are useful skills.

Students in business education learn to work with modern machines.

Many kinds of courses are taught on campus to give students a diversified training in business practices.

Freshmen usually begin with training in general business and business arithmetic. Typing and shorthand are added to the sophomore year, and juniors go on to transcript. Seniors have a choice of two fields, clerical practice and office occupations.

Clerical practice gives students experience in operating business machines and learning to become efficient workers. Students in the office occupations training program attend classes on campus during the morning. During the afternoon they receive first hand training by working in various business offices in Belleville.

Cooking and sewing are basic to homemaking.

"I burned my finger!" is the cry often heard from the girls enrolled in cooking class, one of the courses offered in the field of home economics at BTHS. Courses cover various aspects of cooking, clothing, and homemaking.

Instructors teach the girls the best ways to plan and prepare meals of high nutritional value and how to serve meals gracefully. By learning basic fundamentals of sewing and the use of sewing machines, girls are able to make their own blouses, skirts, and coats.

This year the home economics department is extending its facilities. A complete and modern apartment is being built to give an opportunity to practice housekeeping and to learn the attractive arrangement of furniture.

Susan Kennedy and Charlette Deboe are proud of their freshly-baked pie.

Physical sciences attempt to explain matter.

The physical sciences of chemistry and physics provide students with a practical explanation of natural phenomena. Chemistry investigates the composition of materials and the changes which they undergo. Physics is the science of machines and their functions.

Physics students begin by learning the principles of simple machines, such as the wheel and axle, the inclined plane, the screw, and the lever, and then advance to complicated combinations of these found in industry.

Chemistry provides students with a workable understanding of the elements. They study chemical reactions while conducting experiments. Students learn to balance chemical equations and to solve for unknowns.

Keith Jenkins and Dick Reese demonstrate the law of force in a physics class.

Creativity is developed in art classes.

Connie Kosfield concentrates on improving her technique in oil painting.

The field of art offers a variety of courses which include beginning and advanced painting, ceramics, interior decorating, and jewelry. Beginning painting teaches fundamentals which are later applied in advanced classes.

In the showcases and lower lobby of the Cafeteria Building art students put their projects on exhibition.

A big art project this year was the designing and making of hand puppets. These puppets were featured in a show written by the students for the enjoyment of the whole school.

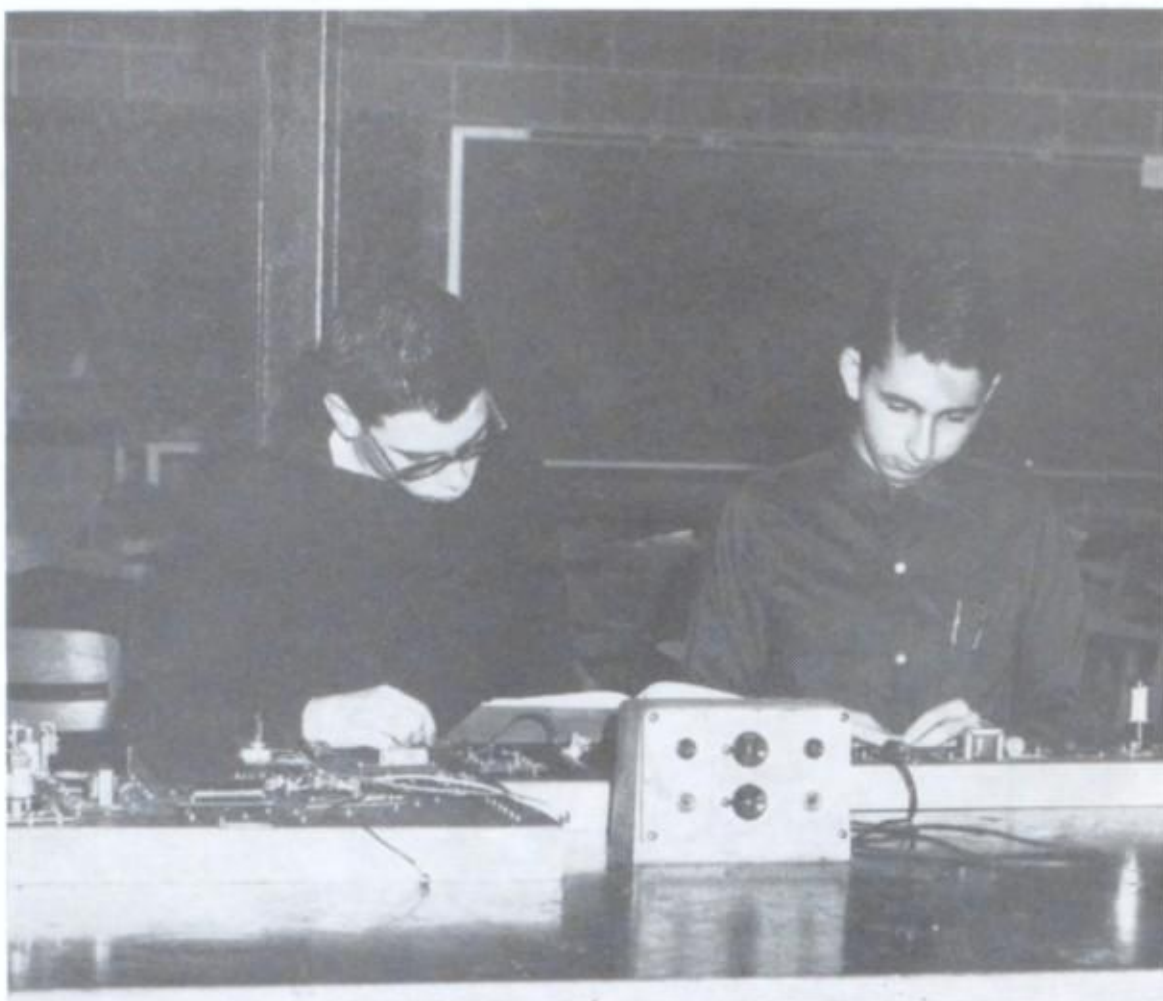

A visit to the St. Louis Art Museum enabled students to study the style of the old masters. From their observations at the museum, students improved techniques and use of color in their own work.

Industrial education teaches various skills.

The industrial arts combine a variety of courses with the latest techniques and instruction facilities to provide students with a practical training for future employment.

Future carpenters, electricians, welders, mechanics, and draftsman learn the fundamentals necessary to their respective skills.

Electric shop students begin with the basic principles of electricity and advance to the complicated concepts of radio and television. Wood and welding shop students learn to use the tools of their trade in making various articles. Auto shop students become acquainted with the technical aspects of a variety of vehicles, automobile engines and parts are used to help familiarize students with the composition of the car.

Dexter Hawk and Philip Buchanan assemble a radio in the Electric Shop.

Students express ideas through design.

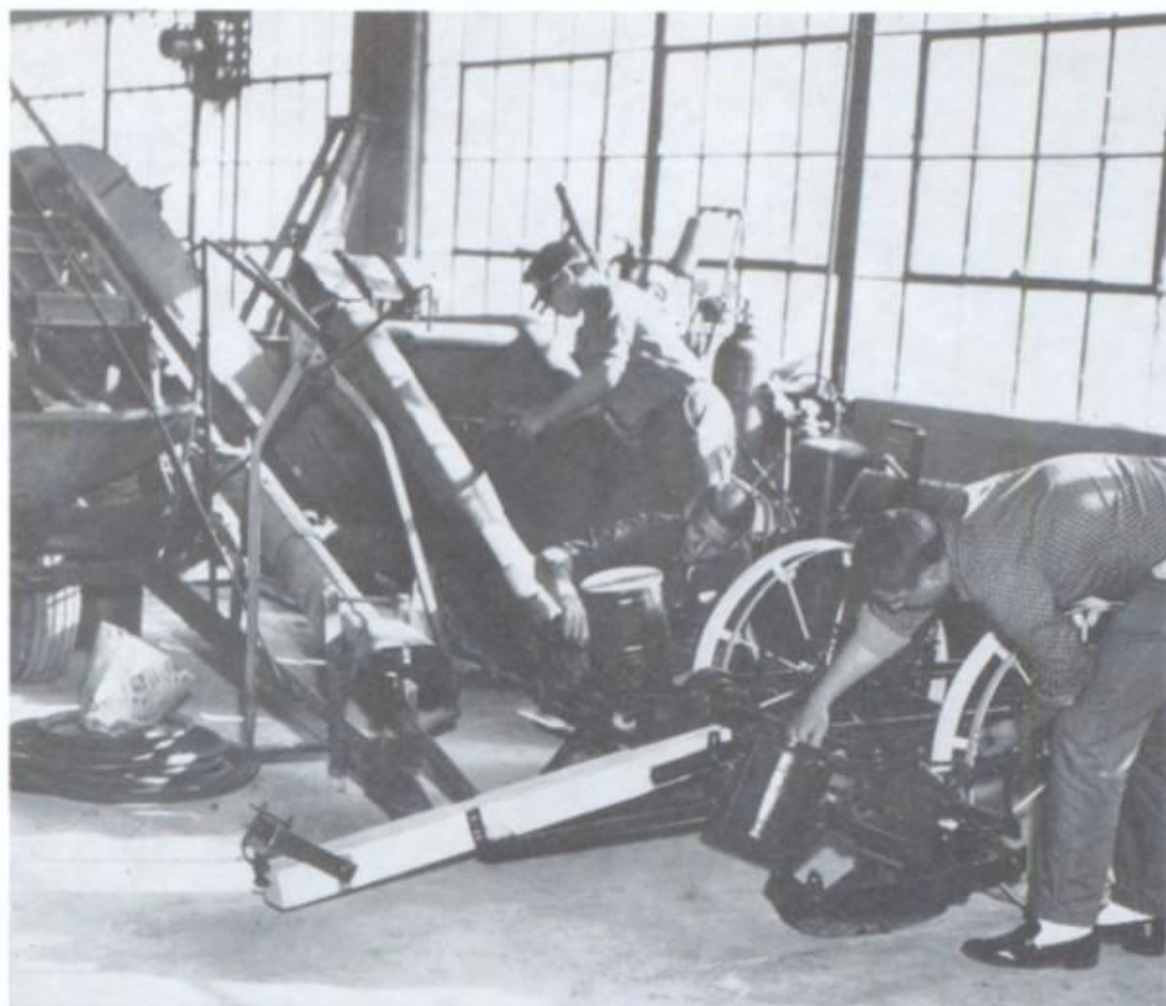

In his architectural design class, Mike Huber examines the plans for his model house.

In the architectural design course, the fundamentals of design help the student plan, construct, and express his own ideas. Each student begins with a basic idea for the type of home he wants to design. The good and poor points of each student's idea are discussed in class. After improvements have been made, the sketches and building of the home begins. When all details of the home, the floor plan, the foundation, and the elevations have been completed, the student begins to build his model. Each boy spends approximately one-hundred hours on the construction of the model.

Architectural design provides excellent training for a general and well-rounded education for any student, not only for future builders.

Ag boys put learning into projects.

Boys in an agriculture class build a corn planter as a class project.

PE develops healthy bodies and minds.

This year there was added interest and enthusiasm in the physical education program of the boys' gym classes. This was due to the visit of Mr. Abdul Aziz bin Omar, a foreign exchange teacher from Malaya. Mr. Aziz was with us during January to observe the activities of the physical education department. At the end of his stay, BTHS boys returned with a new outlook on the sports they had known before.

The girls' physical education classes began the year with participation in softball, tennis, and archery. Later, basketball, volleyball, badminton, square dancing, and recreational games were rotated among classes so that each girl had the opportunity to participate in all activities.

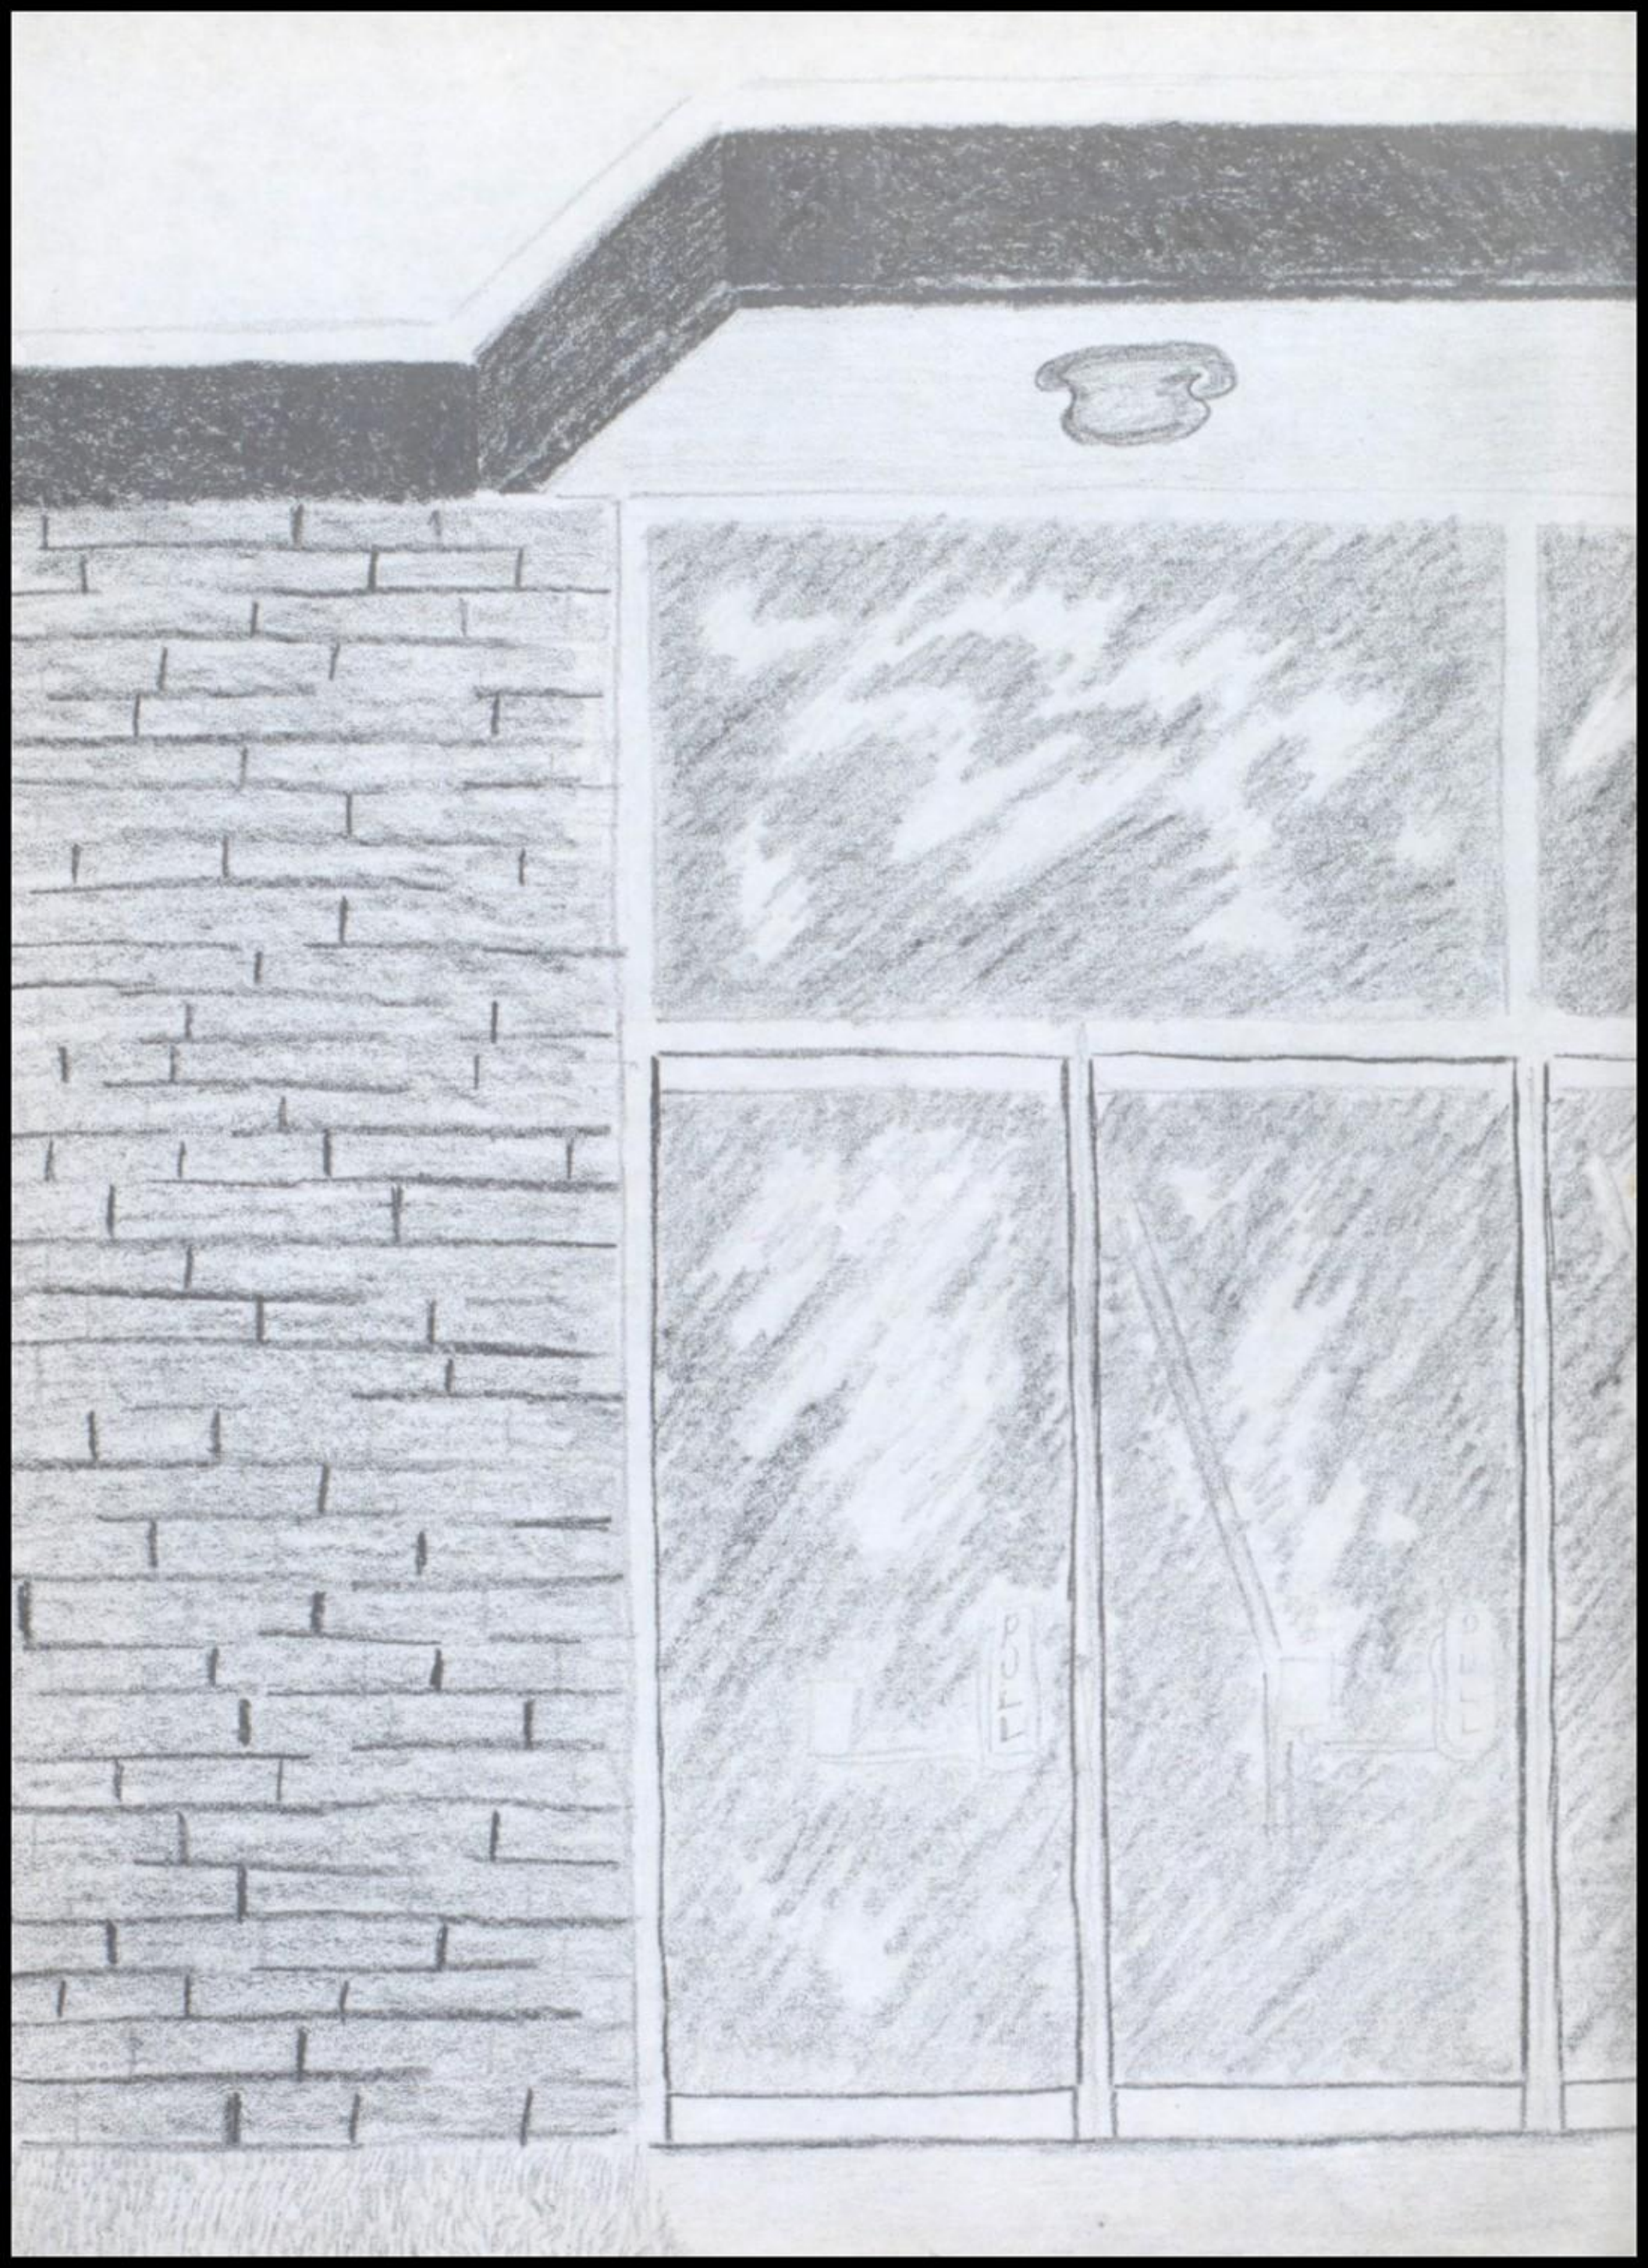

Mr. Armstrong acquaints Mr. Aziz, the foreign exchange teacher, with the daily routine of the boys' gym classes.

Courses in vocational agriculture give the technical knowledge and training needed for modern farming. Students learn techniques of planting and cultivating crops, caring for livestock, operating farm machinery, and keeping orderly records.

The suburban agriculture course helps to acquaint pupils with farming in their county. Instruction is given in landscaping, agricultural policies, and agricultural industry.

An extra-class project is part of the year's work for each student in the curriculum. These projects range from working with livestock to constructing farm implements. Field trips combine knowledge with experience in learning to become successful workers of the land.

ACTIVITY-TILES

Officers of the Student Council are Judy Glock, corresponding secretary; Stephanie Brunner, treasurer; Cleda Peters, chaplain;

Gary Orr, president; Mr. Kunze, adviser; Tom Dunck, vice-president; John Fussner, parliamentarian; and Ann Bosworth, recording secretary.

Student Council reflects student opinion.

Mr. Hobo, the permanent Hobo Day trophy, was unveiled to the student body at the Hobo Day assembly.

"Frosty Fables" was the theme of this year's Christmas Dance. Charles Val provided the music.

Hobo Day was marked by innovations this year. The cheerleaders planned "a visit from Mars" to spy on the BTHS team. Then followed the Maroon and White contest, after which the council introduced Mr. Hobo, a giant wood and plaster cast trophy.

College Night, now an annual affair, is an important event for upper classmen. Through panel discussions, answering questions, and conversation, college students gave their ideas on how to succeed in college to juniors and seniors. Topics such as housing, study habits, social life, finances, campus clothing codes, sports, and sororities and fraternities were explored. Upper classmen were given the opportunity to talk informally to the collegians during the serving of punch and cookies.

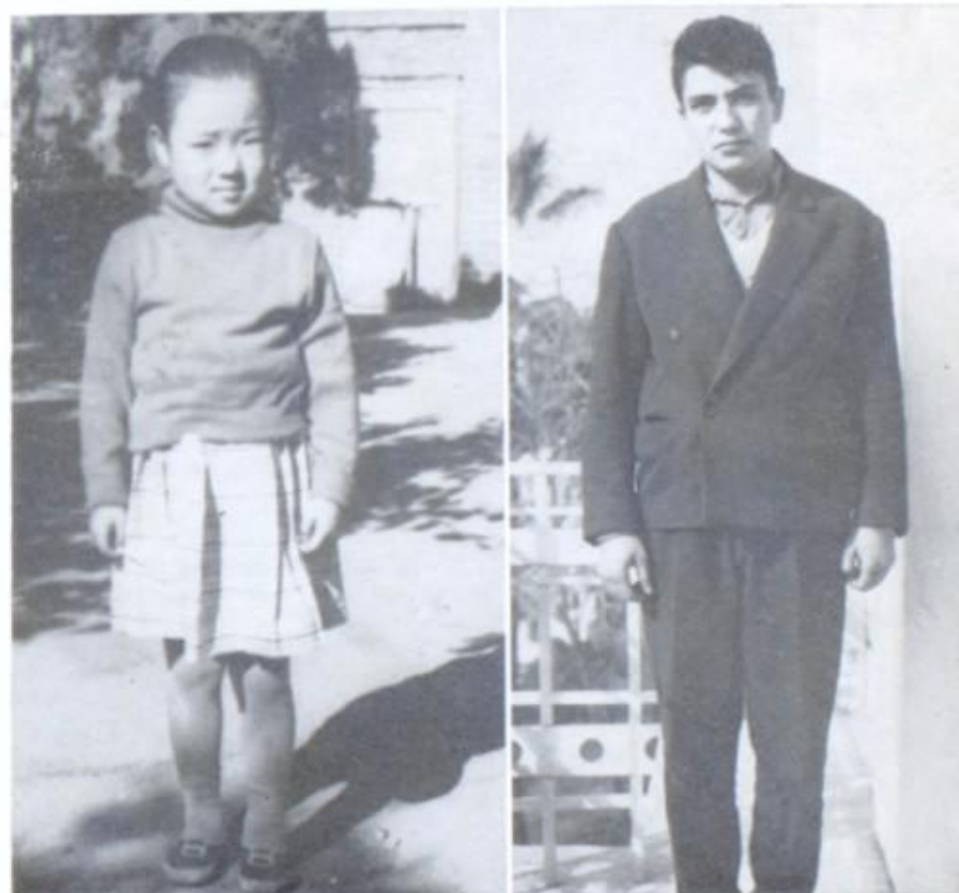

Not only was college life discussed, but preparations for college also. Juniors and seniors were urged to study carefully, to read widely, to think independently, to participate in extra-curricular activities, and to take the necessary college preparatory courses in high school.

Upperclassmen listen attentively to hints and tips on college life from 1960 graduate.

The Council this year initiated a get-acquainted Coke Party, held before one of the football games. All new students were given the opportunity to meet other new students and council members. Cokes and potato chips were served buffet style.

Everyone is happy to contribute to the support of Yoo Kyui Sook and Kostakis.

Council members put new students at ease at the Coke Party.

Again this year the Student Council conducted a financial drive to support the foster children of BTHS, Kostakis of Greece and Yoo Kyui Sook of South Korea.

Gifts of clothing, materials for clothes, and an extra ten dollars are sent to them in addition each Christmas by the council. They, in turn, write letters expressing appreciation for our help and telling about themselves. They learn about us when they receive copies of the BELLEVINOIS each year.

Orders for copies of the 1961 Bellevinois were taken by staff "cowboys" at the "Gold Nuggett," set up in the lobby of the Cafeteria Building.

Bellevinois staffers kicked-off the taking of yearbook orders by rounding up students at the Gold Nugget. Dressed as cowboys the first day of the campaign, we caused chaos in the cafeteria, shooting guns and rounding up the "varmint." A great time was had by all.

At the home football games we sold popcorn and candy apples to raise funds for the yearbook. We spent many hours after school in pounding the streets of Belleville, selling ads and patrons to local businessmen. All year we concentrated on drawing layouts, writing copy, sketching, and taking pictures. Late in the spring we anxiously awaited the arrival of the book that we had put together—the 1961 Bellevinois.

Karen Bauer reads copy as Penny McCraw types material to be sent to the printer.

John Mathes, head photographer, explains techniques of photography to apprentices Mahlon Hillard, Eddie Kenney, and Jim Morgan.

In September we had a "housewarming" party to remodel and clean up the staff room. The yule season was celebrated with a Christmas tree and a party. Then came the last-minute rush for patrons, pictures, and copy. Stephanie and Miss Hansleben had to remind us each day of deadlines for engraving and printing. Finally the last picture was taken and the last period added to the last sentence of copy. As the year came to a close we realized what a rewarding experience working on the 1961 Bellevinois had been.

A lot of hard work goes into the school paper.

Hy News Cub reporters soon learned that many jobs have to be done before a newspaper can be distributed to the public. Not only did they have to write and rewrite copy, but they had to walk the ad beat throughout the community.

After staffers had secured ads they began the circulation campaign. They covered the campus, with pen and order book poised to write, seeking to sell season subscriptions to faculty and fellow students. Drawings of Huckleberry Hound and Yogi Bear looked down from the walls of the corridors, endorsing the Hy News. At the end of the campaign the staff was pleased to note that they had passed all previous subscription records.

Now it was time to get down to the real business of publishing the paper. Meeting 4B daily, staffers planned contents for the bi-weekly issues. Upon receiving their assignments reporters went out to get their scoops, interviews, and articles. With Dave Werstler as their editor and Miss Jossem as adviser, the staff met its deadlines on time.

As students picked up copies of the Hy News in the staff room, they little realized the long hard hours that went into the publication of their prize-winning school paper.

Editor Dave Werstler and Miss Jossem discuss layouts with photographer John Marxer.

We keep the public interested in our school.

To report items of interest of the high school to the local newspapers and to help prepare a news letter of school affairs for the adult community, the News Bureau was organized this year under the direction of Miss Jossem. By interviewing the administrative staff, the faculty, and students, and by conducting public surveys, the seven News Bureau-ites located information that made news. During 5A, members spent time shaping public relations for the high school.

The Marching Band attracts attention.

formations as "BTHS" made our stands roar with enthusiasm while a cross formation for Thanksgiving gave everyone a warm feeling.

After the football season came basketball, and gaiety was added to the tense half-times by the newly-formed basketball band.

Band members ended the year with their annual spring concert and their participation in the community school picnic parade.

A member of the band may go to contest in solo or in ensemble categories, and eventually on to state. He also has a chance to take part in the County Band Festival, at which all school bands in the county gather for afternoon rehearsal and evening concert. This year the festival was held at BTHS on March 17.

The purpose of the band council is to see that the band constitution is carried out and to make money for the band and the school. This year the council gave a dance after the Cathedral football game. Officers were Steve Crook, president; Don Blackwell, vice-president; and Ann Roevers, secretary-treasurer. Class representatives were Nancy Jo Roberts and Donna Davis, seniors; Suzanne Lutz and Leroy Kraske, juniors; Cheryl Logan and Donna Gent, sophomores, and Susan Merker and Steve Young, freshmen.

Under the able direction of Mr. Kirsch, the band marched with pride and ease through the streets of the town and the green grass of the stadium. Leading the band was the nine-man color guard, followed by seven majorettes and the drum major, Don Blackwell. The colorful and high-strutting majorettes were led by seniors Nancy Jo Roberts and Nancy Biehl. Marilyn Richard and Joe Underwood were co-captains of the color guard.

The color guard is composed of Marilyn Richard (ROW 1), Ronald Joshu, Joel West (ROW 2), and Caroleen Carron, Sandra Davidson, Tom Steen, Sue Pitman, Joe Underwood, Dianna Richard, and Marilyn King.

This attractive group greets us with a song.

The 6A Girls' Sextette, directed by Miss Baer, is one of three outstanding singing ensembles on campus. The group has won several first place awards in district and state contests.

These girls are a welcome addition to any kind of a social gathering and often are part of the program at banquets, PTA meetings, and other community gatherings.

This year the 6A Sextette appeared in dark green sheaths with white pique collars.

We enjoy good music.

The Concert Band was established three years ago for students interested in obtaining a wider background in classical and modern concert music.

Among the band's varied activities were a public performance in December, several high school assemblies, a spring concert, and a tour of grade schools during Music Week. Several groups were sent to contest in April.

With Belleville as the host school the County Music Festival was held on March 17. Fourteen county high school bands met Friday afternoon to practice the program which was presented that evening in a public concert. Mr. Mark Hinsley from the University of Illinois was the guest conductor.

Choir members learn by experience.

The Concert Choir, under the direction of Miss Baer, is well-known in the community for its annual Christmas Vesper program and its traditional spring concert entitled "I Hear a Song."

Four days a week, the sixty-five members meet for rehearsal. In addition to the annual concerts, the choir performs at assemblies, goes on a musical tour of elementary schools, takes part in the Music Festival, and sings at baccalaureate services. This year Belleville was the host school for the Festival, with Russel Mathais from the University of Illinois as guest conductor.

Practicing to memorize and perfect their music is hard work, but choir members also have a lot of fun. They will have many happy memories of the friends and the good times brought to them through singing.

These girls please the ear.

Sing! Sing! Sing! This is the motto of the 6B Girls' Sextette, and rightly so. Members are chosen for ability to read music and to sing. Even though organized only two years ago, this group has won first place awards in district and state music contests.

The girls have also appeared in the choir's spring concert, the Thespian Variety Show, and various social functions in the community.

This year the girls were attired in loden green skirts with coordinated white and green print blouses.

Rehearsals are fun for music lovers.

John Stanford, Jim Freiberg, Jim Eckert, Jim Mulvaney, David Rasche, David Lashley, Don Schneider, and Bill Dobbs gather around the piano as Pat Moehle prepares to accompany them in a song.

It takes many hours of practicing for the orchestra to blend the many different instruments into one musical sound.

Under the able direction of Mr. Peters, the orchestra performed for the J. C. commencement program and for the J. C. nurse capping ceremonies. During National Music Week the group played for area elementary schools. It also provided musical entertainment at the Fine Arts Festival, held on campus in the spring.

These boys can sing.

"We now present to you the Boys' Ensemble of BTHS." Even before this group begins to sing many a female heart beats a little faster.

This vocal group, directed by Miss Baer, works hard to achieve the finished product. They have poise, charm, and vocal ability. The ensemble has won first place awards in state contests and has appeared in the Thespian Variety Show, the choir's spring concert, and many community events.

The drill team marches on.

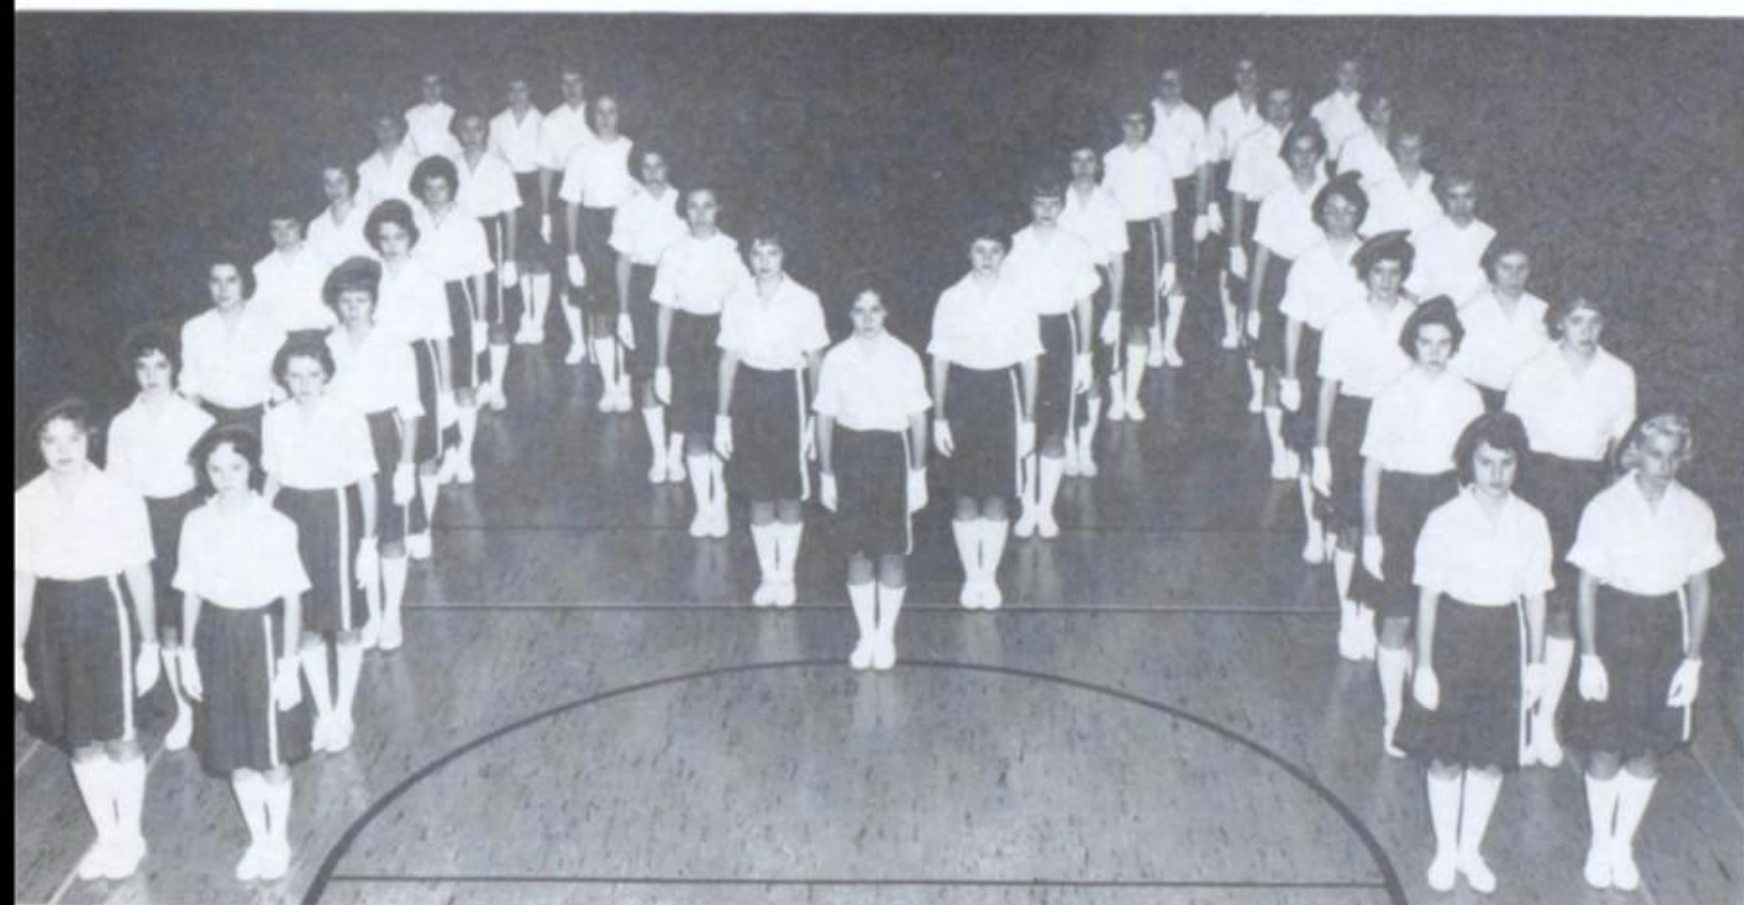

In this, the third year of its existence, the Bellevidears worked hard to improve precision, skill, marching, and maneuvering. For one hour every Wednesday evening the drill team, under the direction of Mrs. Guthrie, was in full cadence, practicing various drills and formations.

During the year the girls participated in several parades, including the community Santa Claus parade, church school parades, and the local Clean-Up Campaign parade. They also provided colorful precision drill for the half-time entertainment at the Alton basketball game.

In the spring the group held its yearly casual dance to raise money for activities. The girls brought the year to a close with their performance of the May Pole dance at the annual May Day Festivities.

Debaters practice the art of speaking effectively.

Bruce Ruehl pauses to quote an authority as Phyllis Ryan, Bob Kirby, and Marilyn Wiegman await their turn to speak.

Every day, during sixth and seventh hour students of debate meet under the direction of Mrs. Duggan. They learn how to gain fluency, confidence, and logic.

The team, composed of novice and advanced debaters, got off to a roaring start this year. In a tournament at St. Louis University High the advanced division team won a first place trophy. The team in the beginning division tied for first place. Kathy Stenzel won a medal as one of the outstanding debaters of the tournament.

At Illinois State Normal the squad didn't do quite as well. The team in cross-examination debate had a 4-4 record. The team in regular debate had a 5-3 record.

At Southern Illinois University, one of the teams in Division B won a first place trophy. The team in Division A had a second place rating.

Thespians Sue Church, Jane Chenoweth, Ann Bosworth, David Rasche, Gail Carpenter, Betsy Wobus, Gay Hentze, Liz Park, and Sandy Bogard have more fun than "a barrel of monkeys."

Acting is our game.

Thespian Troupe No. 369, sponsored by Mr. Pleasant, seeks to advance dramatic arts in the high school. Members develop skills in make-up, directing, and production.

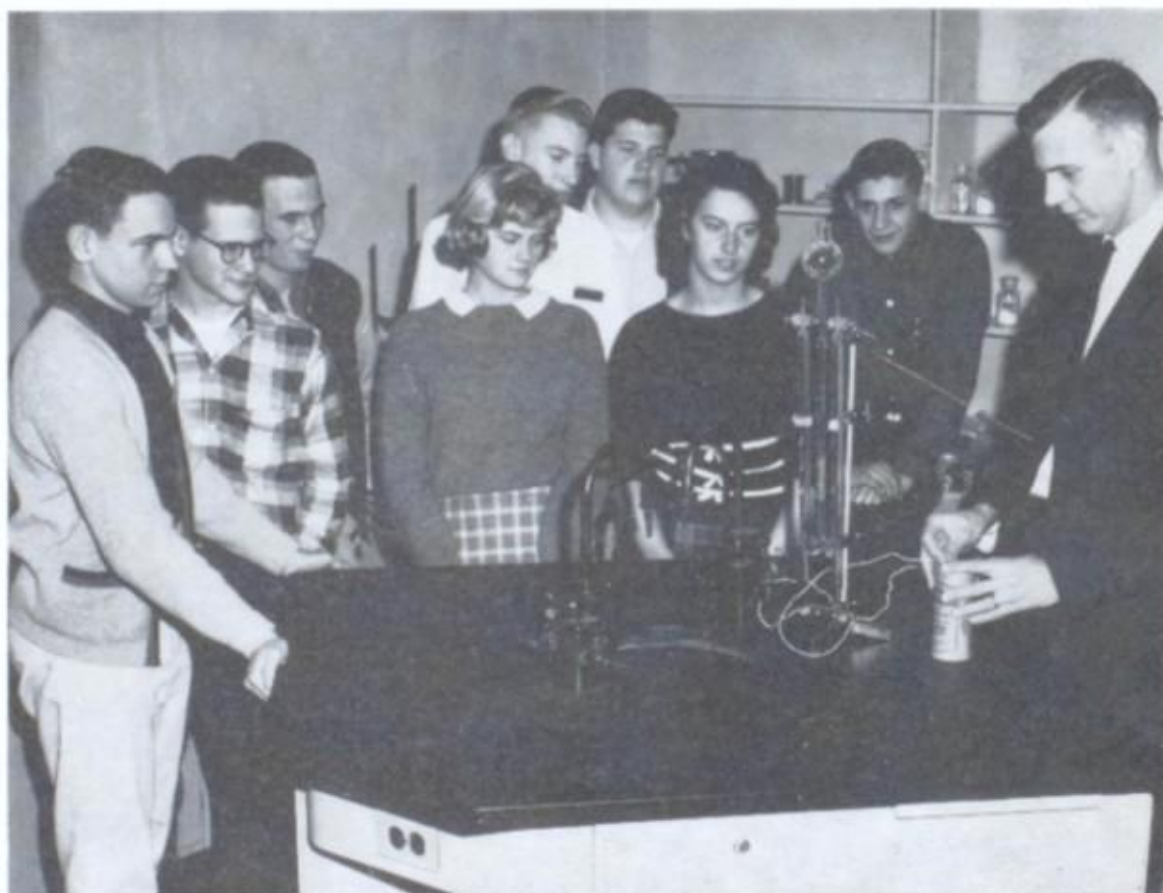

To gain membership, one must accumulate fifteen points working in Little Theatre. One point for every ten hours is given for work on any Theatre activity.

Throughout the year Thespians work on plays, practicing their many skills to train novice Little Theatre members. After the final play of the season the list of those chosen for Thespians is announced. A formal ceremony at the spring banquet initiates them into the drama group.

To celebrate the end of the first semester, Thespians presented a peppy variety show, filled with musical numbers and pantomimes, entitled "Hooray for Love."

We like experiments in chemistry.

The Chemistry Club is a newly-organized club, under the guidance of Mr. Massey. It meets every Tuesday afternoon from three to four-thirty. The activities of the club include demonstrations by Mr. Massey and experiments by the members. Some of the experiments are just for fun and others to satisfy the curiosity of possible future scientists. To be eligible to join, students must be enrolled in a senior chemistry class. Many of the members have their own special projects that they work on all year. In the spring, the members may enter their finished product in the Science Fair. All of those participating in the activities of the Chemistry Club appreciate the extra knowledge and the better understanding of chemistry that they gain.

Mr. Massey demonstrates the principles of electrolysis to Frank Brooks, Charles Meyer, William McKinney, Sue Stonewater, Jerry Anna, Lloyd Wilson, Waunita Campbell, and Richard Seibel at a weekly meeting of the Chemistry Club.

Andrea Banduhn, Liz Park, Jim Eckert, Steve Peeck, Roger Munie, Carol Joganic, Mrs. Leunig, Virginia Gallup, Judy Forrest, and Bobbie Wilkerson look over magazines to be sent to students abroad.

We promote world understanding.

Greater understanding among nations on a "people-to-people" basis is essential to world cooperation. That is the reason for the establishment of the "People-to-People" program on campus. BTHS has the honor of being the first school in the United States to be affiliated with a South American school. Under the direction of Mrs. Leunig, the group seeks to stimulate interest in people of other countries and to supplement government-to-government relations.

Activities included collection of books and magazines to send abroad and correspondence with students in other countries, informing them of the ways Americans work, play, worship, and participate in a democracy, and in turn learning about their ways.

We are interested in numismatics.

The Coin Club, co-sponsored by Mr. Miller and Mr. Davis, is organized to encourage the art of coin collecting. The bi-monthly business meetings are followed by discussion and trading. Occasionally the officers invite a guest speaker, show numismatic slides provided by the American Numismatic Association, or hold a closed auction.

Many of the club's advanced collectors have become members of the Missouri Numismatics Society and have participated in the St. Louis Fall Coin Festival and numerous displays in conjunction with National Coin Week.

Through the study of a nation's coinage, in some nations dating back to 250 B.C., much is learned about the economics, culture, history and people of that country.

Bob Kirby presides over Coin Club meeting as David Ringle, Mr. Davis, Sandra Schilling, Tom Janosky, Russell Schluiler, David Chaffee, Jim Waller, Bill Schoper, David Habermehl, Bob Scask, Sue Allen, Gregg Thomas, Clyde Mager, Mr. Miller looks on.

Homemakers learn skills.

Future Homemakers meet on the first and third Wednesdays. Before the Christmas holidays the girls gave a tea for their mothers, with foods classes serving their specialties and clothing classes displaying their products. In the spring, the club planned a style show, and each girl had the chance to parade down the aisle in the costume she had designed and produced.

We want to be nurses.

Meeting every Tuesday during 5B, the Future Nurses Club has thirty-five members. This year the girls sold coin purses imprinted with the basketball schedule. Money earned was used for trips to nursing schools in the area. Senior members assisted in the giving of TB shots to seniors. At one club meeting, Steve Peeck, chairman of the People-to-People Program, discussed the basis of international understanding.

We want to teach the students of tomorrow.

The Future Teachers of America, affiliated with the national organization, encourages interested and qualified students to enter the teaching profession.

Members meet once a week with faculty advisers, Miss McCann and Mr. Eller, to discuss special fields of teaching and available scholarships.

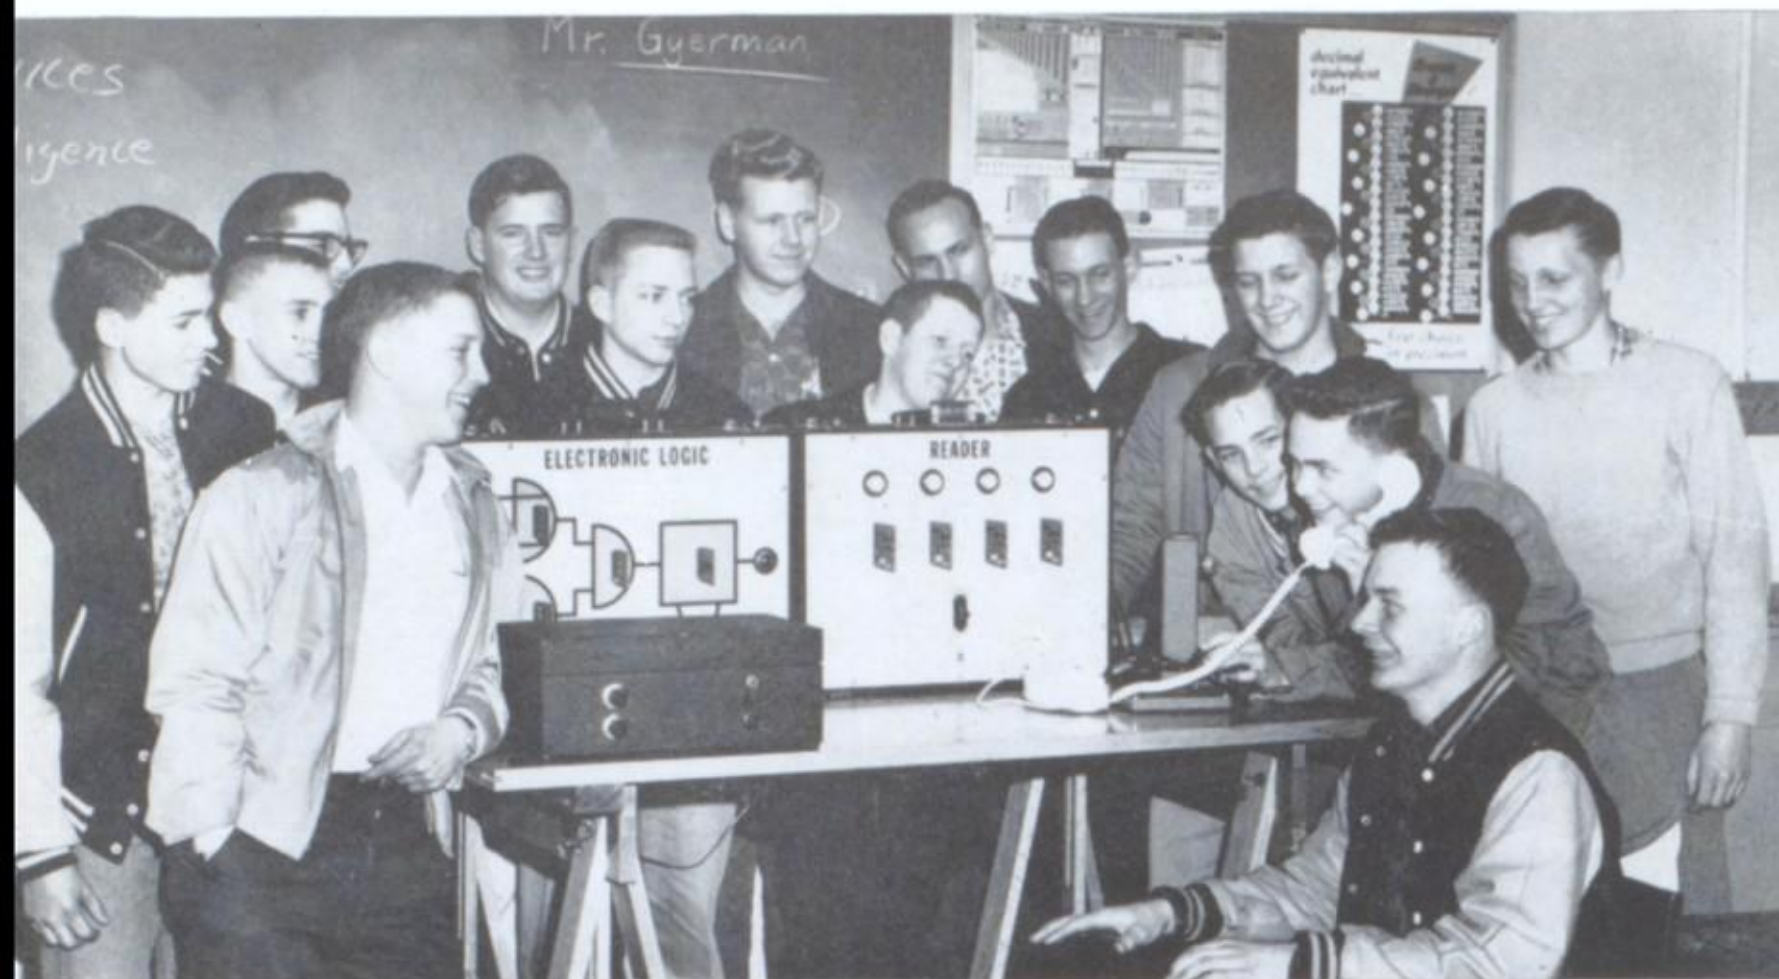

Activities this year included the annual Christmas Tea in honor of the faculty, a visit to the Carbondale campus of Southern Illinois University, a bowling party, and the spring banquet and installation of officers.

Miss McCann serves Dr. Matthews and Mr. Gentsch at the FTA Christmas tea.

Industrial Ed boys enjoy club meetings.

The Industrial Education Club operates to teach members to appreciate industry. The boys took tours of various industries and completed payment on the shop room speakers which enable them to work with music.

FFA has a full schedule of activities.

Learning how to use modern farm practices and equipment is the objective of the national organization of Future Farmers of America. The local chapter, organized on this campus in 1919, participates in many contests, such as land judging, poultry and grain judging, fat stock judging, dairy judging, speaking, and parliamentary procedure. Outstanding participants in the contests this year included Dan Lemen, Bob Scharf, Mel Zielinski, Lary Eckert, Ken Mueller, and David Albert.

In order to make money for the chapter, the club members sold different types of tools, assorted nuts, and a variety of garden seeds. The club used the money for an annual parent-son banquet and several field trips.

The chapter's hard-working adviser is Mr. Wolford, an alumnus of the University of Illinois School of Agriculture.

Written by George Bernard Shaw, this play is a satire on the Roman persecutions of the Christians. Shaw portrays the Romans as pompous fools, terrified by the hearty Christians. Androcles helps the lion. The lion in return defends the Christians and chases Caesar, until Caesar agrees to let the Christians go.

Androcles (David Nehrkorn) makes friends with a lion (Carol Joganic) after pulling a thorn from the lion's paw.

Lavinia, portrayed by Vicki Teague, tries to convince a Roman soldier (Clyde Brasher) that the persecutions of Christians are wrong.

Roman officials (David Rasche, Robert Rea, and Jim Sellers) are awed when their persecution fails because the lion remembers Androcles as his friend.

Little Theatre Work is Play

The lights dim, the curtain parts, and another play, complete with staging and costumes, is enacted upon the stage of the auditorium. As the applause dies away and the audience departs, Little Theatre begins planning another production.

Members gain valuable experience on stage and back stage, working on acting, sets, props, lighting, sound, costumes, publicity, tickets, programs ushers.

The one hundred and twenty members also enjoyed trips to the American Theatre and several parties.

Shaking hands with Simon, Sally Goldenberg, the executioner, John Irwin, offers his friendship in return for Simon's saving the princess.

Sophomores entertained grade school children.

Simple Simon, a three-act fairy tale, was presented by the sophomore class for their annual children's play.

The play, given on two consecutive afternoons for the Belleville grade schools, featured Sally Goldenberg as Simon and Roger Krick as the pieman.

The cast included David Nehrkorn, the king; John Irwin, the executioner; Bill Schlueter and Clyde Brasher, guards; Maureen Burge, washwoman; Lee Ann French, Kathy McBride, and Janet Beatty, the clothes; Courtney Neil, Ann Young, and Sue Ann Scheffknecht, the townspeople; and Diana Chapman, Marilyn Zupsich, and Rosiland Peck as the palace attendants.

Mrs. Quakenbos was the stage director, with Mrs. Milligan as technical director and Gay Hentze as student director.

Simon, Sally Goldenberg, realizes that talking back to the Queen, Betty Heinke, is a serious offense, as guards, Bill Schlueter and Clyde Brasher, prepare to drag him off to the jail. The king, David Nehrkorn; the princess, Tana Siler; and the pieman, Roger Krick, observe Simon's plight but are unable to help him.

The pieman, Roger Krick, gives Simon a "go-o-o-ose-berry pie" to express the country's thanks to Simon for finding the princess and for making the queen happy again.

Freshmen take the stage.

Seniors take a ride.

Annually the seniors have the fun of taking part in "America's Funniest Game," donkey basketball. Five on a team, the girls compete against the boys. Girls have a slight advantage, for the boys are given the kicking, bucking, and most stubborn donkeys of the lot. The ensuing confusion is truly a battle of the sexes! Although the yearly scores usually total wins for the boys' column, both sides have a fine time. All baskets have to be shot from players astride a donkey, but most of the time the players are sliding to the floor or chasing the donkey. When a player does get a hold on the ball he has to convince the donkey to move toward the right basket at the same time that he has to keep the ball away from the hands of his opponents. It all adds up to quite a struggle for the seniors and a hilarious show for the audience.

The bleacher "cowboys" always provide a noisy audience, shouting directions to the players and roaring with laughter at the spectacle. Those sitting near the playing floor squeal in excitement as the donkeys prance near them.

The donkey basketball game, co-sponsored by the Bellevinois Staff and the Student Council, is an event that BTHS students look forward to the most in their senior year.

Bill Gordon tries to keep Lynne Hirz from aiming for the basket.

"Iv'e got it, but what do I do with it?" wails Cheryl Schuessler.

Richard Koch learns that mules really are stubborn.

Janet Schaefer struggles to keep possession of the ball as the opposition closes in.

Juniors composed and produced 'Campaign Capers'

Eddie Kenny portrayed Nennedy and Richard Norsigian played Kixon. Through on-the-spot news coverage by the two famous television commentators, Hunt Chetley, portrayed by David Rasche, and Brink Daveily, portrayed by David Schmelzel, the audience viewed the campaign. The towns through which the campaign parties toured were New York City, Fish Hook, Kentucky, Santa Claus, Indiana, Hell, Michigan, Chinatown in San Francisco, San Antonio, Texas, Ghost Town, New Orleans, and Greenwich Village.

The finale took place back in New York where the entire cast divided in support of their candidate. Mrs. Guthrie and Mr. Pleasant were the co-directors.

After the Jam, the juniors held a coronation dance in the Boys' Gym. Highlight of the evening was the crowning of Terry Pensoneau and Cathy Hill as King and Queen of the 1960 Junior Jam.

Nennedy claims there is "trouble in New York City."

Greenwich Village beatniks drape themselves around, awaiting the entrance of "cool" Kixon and Nennedy.

The Pinter twins, Joanne and Karen, serve as pages to the 1960 Junior Jam King and Queen, Terry Pensoneau and Cathy Hill, while retiring Queen Stephanie Brunner and King Dean Bosse stand by the throne.

The three chipmunks, Simon, Theodore, and Alvin, sing and dance their belief in "Alvin for president."

We fight, fight, fight for the Maroon and White!

In May of each year freshman, sophomore, and junior girls try out for positions as cheerleaders. Coached for two weeks by the senior cheerleaders, girls who try out must start from "scratch," learning splits, cart wheels, jumps, and cheers. Tryouts are nerve-wracking events, but if one is chosen to become a cheerleader the rewards are worth the effort.

On Monday and Wednesday afternoon, the dedicated cheerleaders practice routines in the Girls' Gym. Their work is difficult for they have to learn many new cheers and prepare skits for pep assemblies throughout the year. Mrs. Guthrie, the faculty sponsor, insists that a cheer be perfected before she will allow the girls to begin to practice another one. Each girl gives up much of her time and energy to remain a cheerleader. Not only are weekly practice sessions very strenuous, but the girls have a heavy schedule of games each week from September until the end of the basketball season in March. When our Maroons are on the field or court, these girls are on the sidelines. Whether the teams are winning or losing, the girls continue to back them. Naturally they get tired of yelling, especially when the crowd has stopped, but they don't complain. They keep on representing us and we can be proud of the fact that they do. They really earn the letters they receive at the athletic banquet.

Coach Frala describes East Side's team at the Hobo Day Assembly.

Boys who have earned letters in the various sports have also earned their way into the Letterman's Club.

The club begins the school year by selling soda at home football games. As the football season ends, the Lettermen move into the gym to sell candy at basketball games. With the money earned, the boys sponsor the annual Thanksgiving Day dance. The affair, a major event on our social calendar, is highlighted by the crowning of a football queen. Candidates are selected by the Lettermen and voted upon by the student body. Judy Glock was chosen to reign as the 1960 Football Queen. Her court included Stephanie Brunner, Joan Hanford, Cleda Peters, and Sherry Elliott.

This year the Lettermen donated the chief contribution to the building of "Mr. Hobo," a huge replica of the Hobo Day mascot, as a trophy to replace the cash prize awarded the winning float in the annual Hobo Day parade competition.

Holding meetings throughout the year, the Lettermen climax their activities with a picnic in the spring.

September means football.

Our new line coach, Gene Cherney, voted most valuable player of the 1958 fighting Illini, and veteran coach Fred Lauder coupled together with head coach Bob Frala to produce a most capable and explosive football team this season.

Inspired by an outstanding coaching staff the team under their captains, all-state tackle Jerry Lacy and pass-snatching end Dale Kuhn, worked hard to stay in the peak of condition and thus produced a winning team.

On September 17, the Maroons proved hard work pays off as they handed Webster Groves a 20-0 defeat. After an exciting 6-6 tie with Cleveland, the Maroons again proved what they were capable of doing by whalping both Wood River and Staunton. Battling with Collinsville to a 6-6 tie seemed to be too much for the Maroons for they lost three in a row to Edwardsville, Alton, and Cathedral, respectively. However, things seemed to brighten as they beat Granite City, their last game before the East St. Louis-Belle-ville clash. Before an electrified crowd of ten thousand and at the annual Turkey Day game, the Maroon and White players were dealt their worst loss of the year, keeping Belleville to four wins for the season.

Bullock gives us our first home game touchdown.

Honored members of the team were Jerry Lacy, who became an all-state tackle, and Paul "Babe" Rousseau, who was voted most valuable player of this year's team. Captains chosen for next year's team are Art Badgett and Bob Engelbretson.

Bright years seem to be ahead for the hard-working sophomore team who won 5 and lost 2. Under the coaching of Mr. Tabor the team scored victories over Collinsville, Cathedral, and Wood River. The spirited freshman team did outstanding work also, with 4 wins, 1 loss, and 1 tie. Their victories included Cathedral and Collinsville.

The Maroons battle the Flyers.

The huge crowd that watched the final game of the fighting Maroons of 1960 was held in suspense during the entire game. The team had worked hard all season for the big Thanksgiving Day game, but the powerful East St. Louis Flyers just couldn't make a mistake. Belleville kept trying to move with several good gains by "Babe" Rousseau, but they couldn't seem to get into high gear. After a bitter 30-0 defeat, our boys held their heads high, for they knew they had fought a hard game.

The Maroons grab a rebound.

Jackson gets the tip.

"A year not soon to be forgotten," would be fitting words to describe this year's basketball action at B.T.H.S. Playing a full schedule of eighteen regular games, tournaments, regionals, sectionals, and finally state, the boys ended the regular season with a 16 - 9 record. For the first time in the school's history, a Belleville team won the sectional championship in state tournament play.

The season started on a sour note as we were defeated by Griffin of Springfield on December 3. Bouncing back with three wins, including Wood River, Cahokia, and a thrilling one-pointer over Granite City, the team was shaping up. Next came a tough Collinsville team which proved too much and defeated us in a hard-fought contest. After clobbering Freeburg and beating East St. Louis by three points, the Maroons set their sights on the Holiday Tourney at Centralia. After being beaten by the always-tough Pinckneyville five, the Maroons came back to win three in a row to take the consolation trophy in one of the roughest tournaments in current Illinois basketball.

Sectional champs rejoice over trophy.

The boys were gaining steam as they put two more games into the win column and headed for the Dupo Tournament. With high hopes of winning, the team took a close and crushing defeat from Jerseyville in the opener, but downed Freeburg and Cathedral to take another consolation prize.

After defeating Wood River on January 17, the Maroons hit a slump and suffered three straight losses, to Granite City, Collinsville, and East St. Louis.

The boys came back to squeak past Edwardsville in a close contest and then went on to soundly whip Alton. The team was barely beaten by a three point margin in a trip to Eisenhower of Decatur. Coming back from a loss at Madison, the team prepared for the Cathedral Crusaders and the City Championship duel. A good hard-fought game and the Maroons came out on top for another win over Cathedral.

Although they were not favored, the Maroons went on to win the regionals at East St. Louis, defeating Cahokia in the opener, Waterloo in the second game, and Cathedral for the third time this season in the final.

Moving on to the sectionals, Belleville was pitted against the highly-favored Pinckneyville five in the opening game. Overcoming 14-0 odds, the Maroons fought to an ironic 77-63 win, placing them in the sectional finals. A history making finish over Marion in the sectional finals sent the Maroons to West Frankfort and the supersectionals. The Benton Rangers outshot the Maroons in a 65-59 contest to wrap up a terrific season for Belleville.

Future BTHS teams will be tall and strong. The junior varsity, with a 13-4 record this season, appears to be well-equipped with basketball potential. Playing chiefly sophomores, Coach Budde's squad showed the fans some exciting action.

Matmen endure rough season.

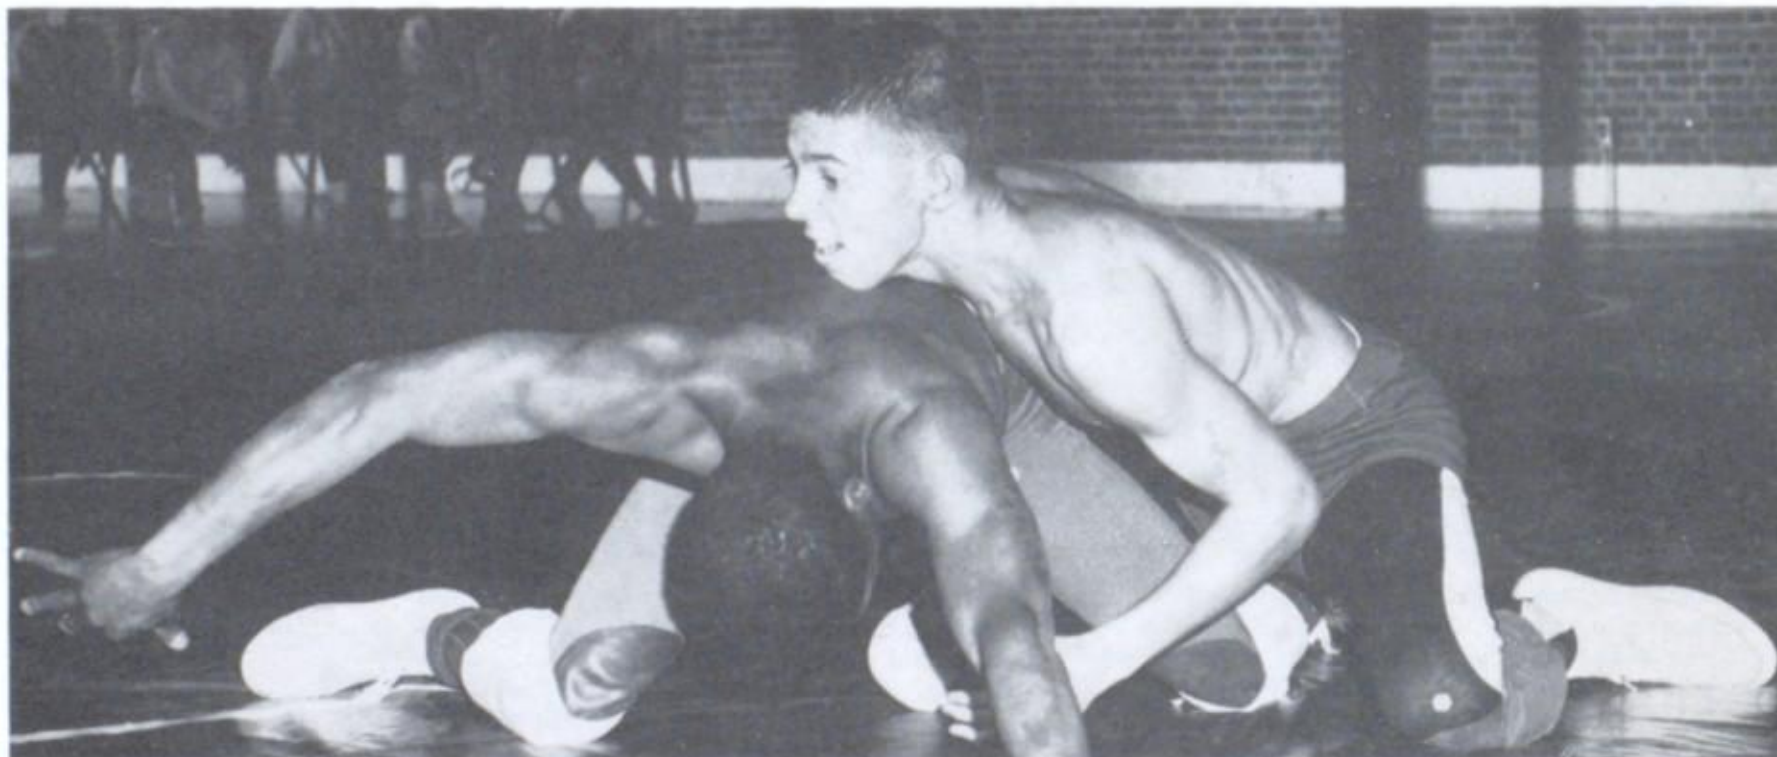

The Maroon wrestlers were handed one of the worst years in their history. With only three seniors, the grapplers were able to win only one of their fourteen matches. The win was over Greenville in a 26-25 thriller. Although the season looked bad on paper, the many underclassmen who gained experience should be real tough for next year's team.

Some of the bright spots on Coach Rauth's team included senior Mike Wilson with 7 wins and 6 losses, junior Terry Knipp with 7 wins and 6 losses, and sophomore Luther Gain with 8 wins and 6 losses.

In addition to the varsity team, a freshman-sophomore squad was added to the wrestling program. The young grapplers were under the watchful eye of the assistant coach, Mr. Cherney. The squad ended their season with 5 losses and 1 tie.

We had a hitting team.

Starting their season workouts in March, this year's baseball team was blessed with very little warm weather, and had to practice indoors most of the time.

With a strong pitching staff of seniors Ted Harvey, Jerry Dill, Tom Butts, and Les Mueller, the team started the season on a winning note by defeating Freeburg, 6-1, on April 4. The starting lineup included Bill Schlueter, catcher; Ken Kaeser, first base; Charles Budde, second base; Roger Bechtold, short stop; Gary Hearne, third base; Les Lund, left field; Randy Hinkle, center field; and Willie Randle, right field. Gary Fritzinger and Terry Harvey, both juniors, also saw some action.

The team proved to be strong on the field as they faced a rough schedule. Opening their conference play on April 6 against Edwardsville, the boys showed their hitting power. With solid hitting from Bill Schlueter and Charles Budde, the team pulled an 11-1 decision over Edwardsville, with Ted Harvey getting the win from the mound.

Schlueter slams a single.

Harvey hurls a strike.

Our Maroons saw action.

Coach Budde talks to the batter.

Continuing their fight in the tough Southwestern Conference, the Maroon baseball team again showed its strength as the boys won their share of the games this year. While chalking up wins, the team showed good hitting and fielding, the results of long hours of practice. Coach Budde was proud of his boys as they gave him their best to win. With most of the pitching staff and three other seniors leaving at graduation, the coach will have to look to younger boys for next year's team.

Underclassmen practice to make varsity.

With a good turnout and a lot of enthusiasm from the boys, the junior varsity and the freshman teams practiced long and hard to get into shape by the beginning of their season. Coach Turner and his junior varsity proved that practice pays off as they won most of their games this year. With Mr. Jackson and Mr. Gentsch coaching the freshmen it looks as if we have prospects for good teams ahead.

Track includes varied events.

Beginning their gruelling practice in early March, the cindermen prepared for a winning season. Head Coach Harpstreit kept the boys in the peak of condition with practice sessions outdoors in good weather and indoors in bad.

After defeating Centralia in the season opener, the varsity team was ready to hand Cahokia a 79-39 blow on April 4, while the junior varsity crushed the Comanches, 84-34. A total of ten first place awards were won by the varsity. In the 100 yard dash, first place went to Forsythe, with Aaron placing second in the 100 and Beckham hitting third in the 220 yard. The 180 yard low hurdles was won by Ballard while Felvey placed 3rd. Felvey also placed second in the 120 yard high hurdles.

McKelvey hands off in the relay.

Duncan goes over in the pole vault.

The quarter mile showed Bullock as first and Randle third. Gary Orr finished second in both the mile and the half mile, and Pensoneau placed third in the half mile. The foursome of Engelbretson, Randle, Bullock, and Hilpert swept the mile relay, while Aaron, Forsythe, and Badgett captured the 880 yard relay. The power of Gaubatz hurled the shot put and discus for two first places. Jerry Lacy placed third in the shot put. In a three-way tie for first in high jump were Gain and Walters. First place awards were won by Mulvaney in broad jump and Duncan in pole vault.

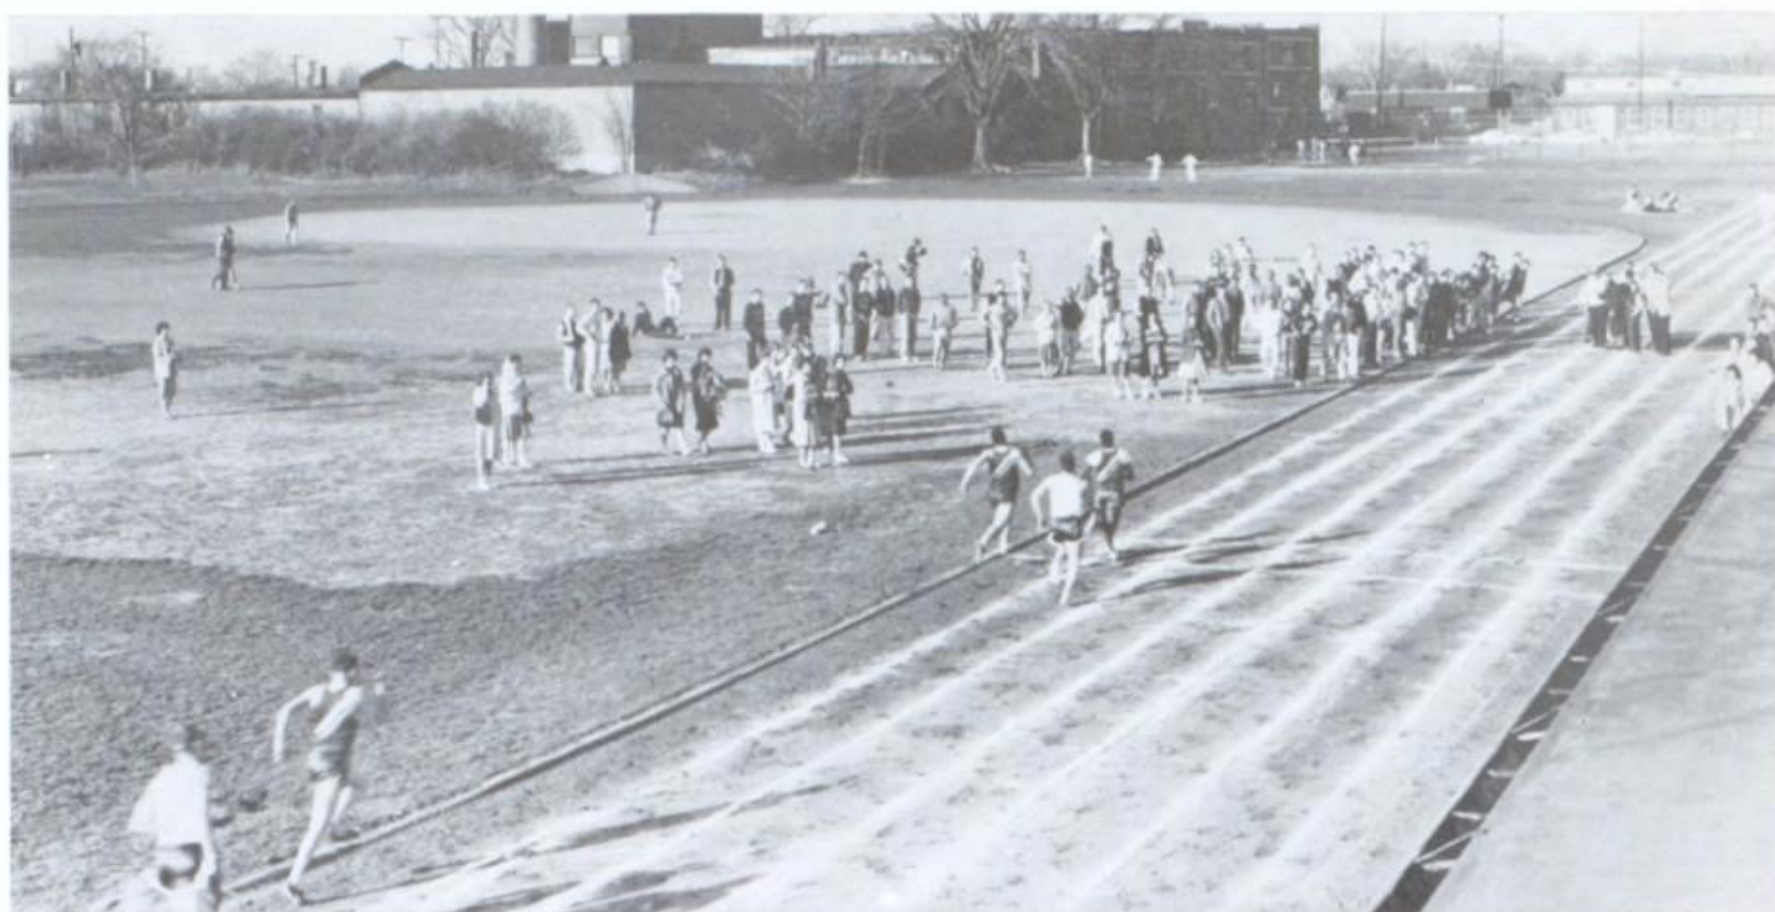

After such a decisive victory, the Maroons were set back by a powerful East St. Louis squad. Bouncing back, the boys whipped Edwardsville, 64-54, as the Maroons took quite a few firsts.

The Carbondale relays were rained out, and bad weather interfered with practice sessions of the local squad. In spite of adverse conditions, our boys put on a good showing at Lincoln, even though the points totaled a win for East St. Louis in the contest. Next came the big Alton relays and our team proved their good conditioning by coming out on top.

Taking the season as a total, this proved a fair year for the Maroons as they met some of the best competition in the state.

Gaubatz heaves the shot.

Track meets produce a lot of action.

Track boys met a heavy schedule.

McKelvey clears the bar.

Osick strains with the disc.

Track stars are in the making.

Seeing a lot of action this year with their junior varsity track meets, young cindermen worked hard to become a winning team. With a lot of potential talent in the field and on the track, Coach Harpstreit may have the material to mold a winning squad for next year. The frosh-soph teams got their first taste of big meet competition as they participated in the East St. Louis and Alton tournaments.

The boys start the half mile run.

Steve Crook aims a backhand down the alley during a team practice session.

Tennis is a game of skill.

Coach Rauth produced a winning tennis team this year, with Tom Dunck, Dave Lashley, Bob Spirtas, and Steve Crook as returning seniors and Brian Smith and Frank Connors as strong freshman additions.

Tennis has been gaining in popularity as a sport at BTHS and thirty boys reported for opening tennis practice this year.

Golfers swing into action.

With the budding leaves and flowers came the spring sports season, and golf clubs were in evidence as thirty boys reported to Coach Heinz for practice. Each year this sport is increasing in popularity. This was the largest turnout since golf was added to our sports schedule several years ago. Leading the squad to the greens and tees were returning lettermen Nicky Buesch, Bob Ernst, Bill Riley, and Jim Trenary.

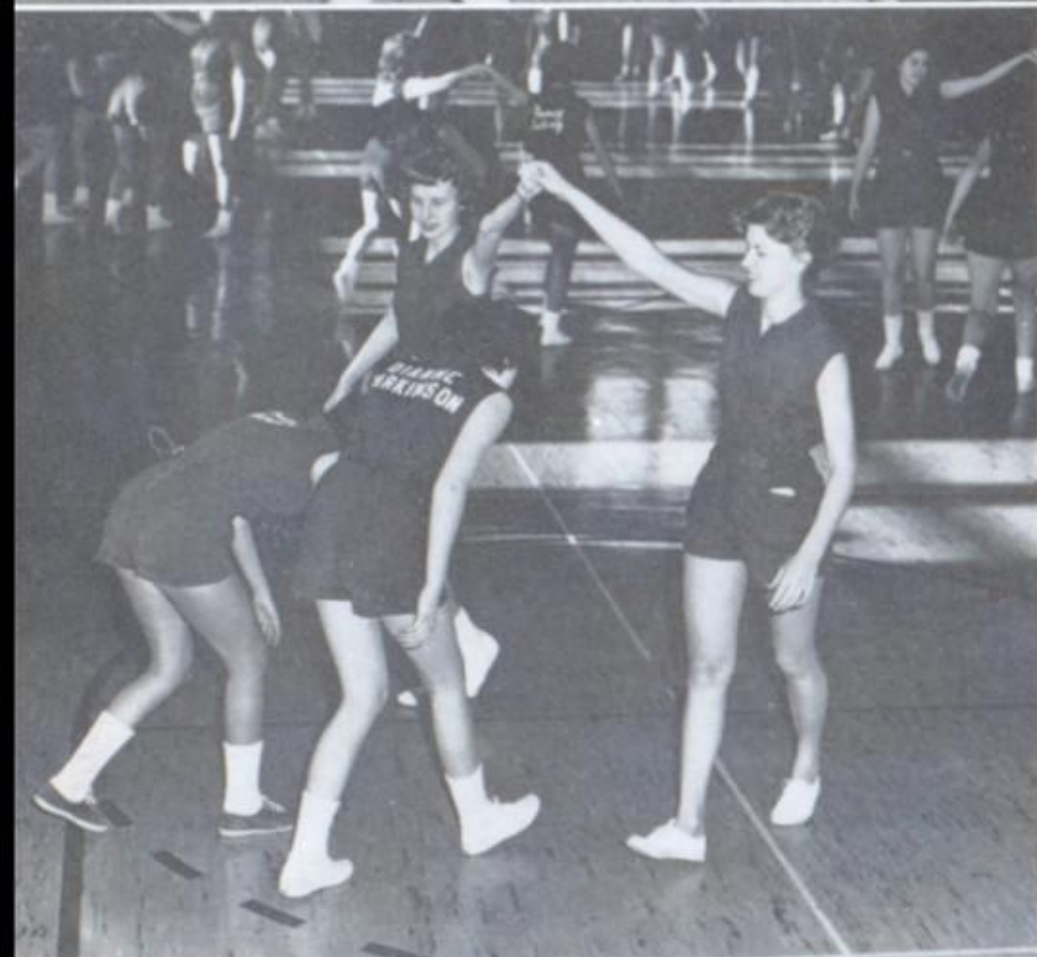

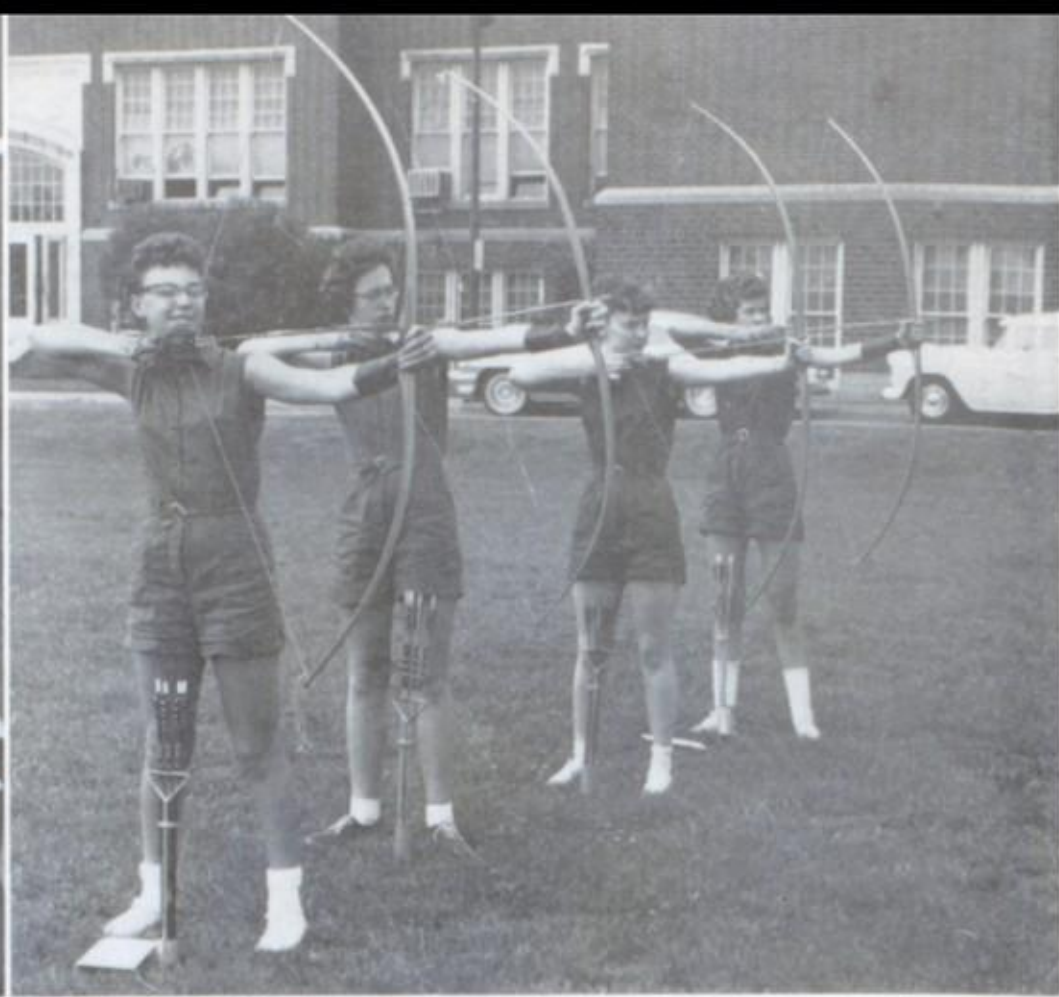

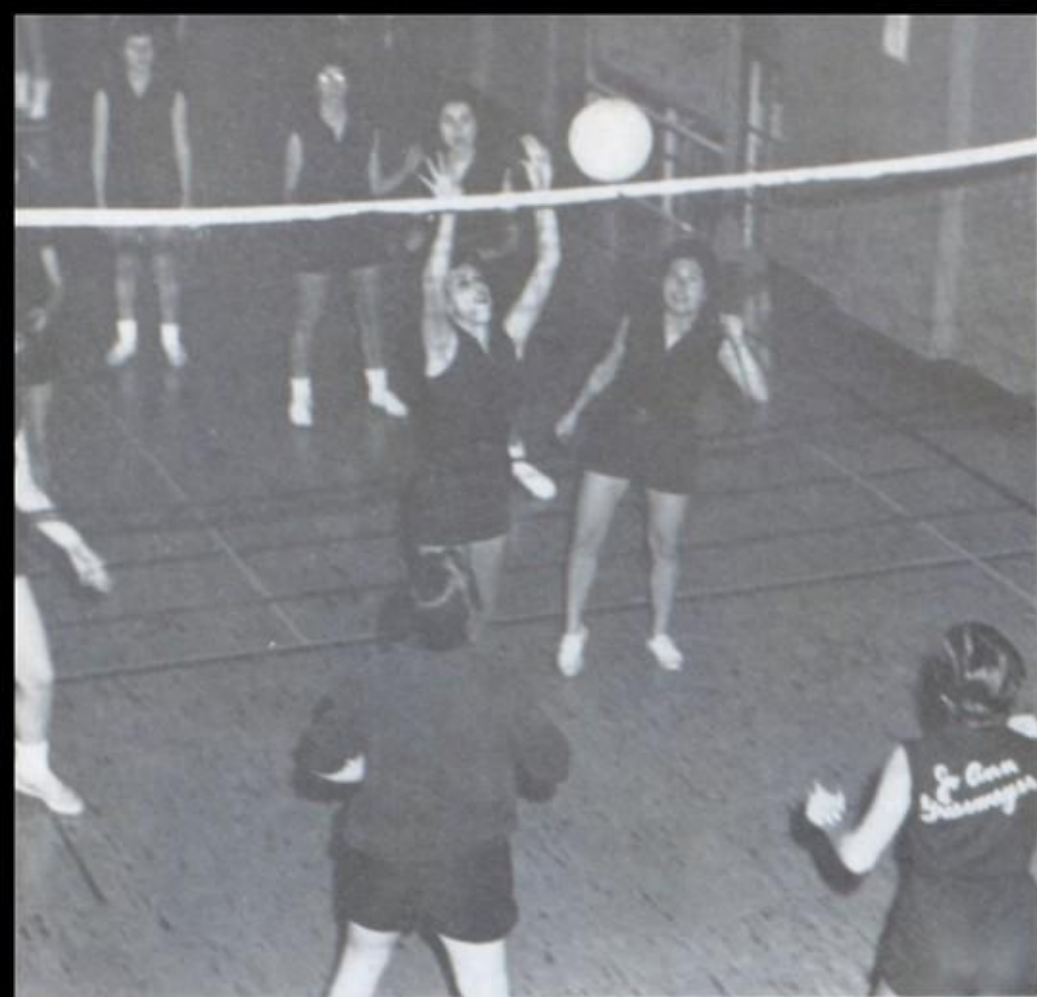

By constant practice after school on their home course, Westhaven, the team was ready to meet any challenge the green had to offer. The boys broke into regular season on April 14 and played steadily until the district tourney on May 12. As in previous years, the team had a winning season on the green.

Girls like physical education.

After acquiring their gym suits in September, the girls took to the outdoors. While some were alternating between softball, archery, tennis, and badminton, others were playing soccer and folk dance rhythms.

Cold weather brought the girls into the gym for volleyball, stunts and tumbling, and social and square dancing. Basketball followed and then came a period devoted to calisthenics and posture and physical fitness training.

The coming of spring brought tennis, archery, softball, and table tennis. A new sport, golf, was offered this year, using the sunken garden as a green.

Girls will remember the Phys. Ed. program for the fun of competition, the development of sportsmanship and health, and the opportunity for friendship.

We recall these scenes.

In September the quadrangles were filled with students. Sitting on the steps of the buildings and gathering in groups, we enjoyed meeting friends.

Student leaders conducted the annual Magazine Drive assembly and explained procedures of the campaign to provide money for class treasuries.

One scene familiar to most of us is the one in the library, with students concentrating on reference work and reading of books, newspapers, and magazines.

With last-minute combing of hair and admonitions from friends to "smile," one was ready to face the camera for yearbook pictures.

For days before the gala parade, garages in the community were workshops for the designing and building of Hobo Day floats.

Stephanie Brunner earns DAR award.

Stephanie Brunner was selected by her senior classmates and the faculty as the recipient of the 1961 Daughters of the American Revolution citizenship award. Chosen on the basis of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism, Stephanie received a pin and a certificate as recognition for the quality of her service to BTHS.

She has been a cheerleader for three years and a member of the Student Council for three years. The position of editor-in-chief of the 1961 Bellevinois crowned her earlier achievements in Junior Honor Society and the Bellevidars. She reigned as the 1959 Junior Jam Queen and was a maid of honor in the court of the 1960 Football Queen. For scholastic achievement she was elected to membership in the National Honor Society in her senior year.

Teenagers serve the community.

BTHS students found a way to serve their community by collecting money for the local Muscular Dystrophy Fund Drive. These students volunteered their time, one Saturday in December, to work at several collection points throughout the city.

Seniors bow out with "Teahouse."

On the evening of May 19 seniors took their audience to a remote village on post-war Okinawa as they presented John Patrick's witty comedy "The Teahouse of the August Moon," a story of Army attempts to bring democracy and trade to a Pacific island.

Our Sincere Thanks

The 1961 Bellevinois Staff wishes to express appreciation to those who gave their time, advice, and cooperation to help us produce the 1961 Bellevinois.

It is not an easy job to publish such a book as the Bellevinois. For the invaluable assistance given we extend our gratitude to:

Miss Jane Hansleben, faculty adviser, for the excellent training and guidance in assembling a year book . . .

Mr. Norman Semmelroth, Record Printing Company, for experienced advice on the printing of our book . . .

Mr. Harry Swain, Central Engraving Company, for expert counseling on photography and engraving . . .

Spieth Studio, for cooperation and experience in fine school photography . . .

Our patrons in the community, for helping to make financially possible the publication of the 1961 Bellevinois.

"You'll order a book or elsel" threaten Lary, Bob, and John at the entrance to the Gold Nuggett.

"I'm just horsing around," drawled Linda on a campaign poster.

"We didn't say we weren't going to order a Bellevinois!"

"Don't be scared, Bob," yell staffers, "he's not moving."
